MOTION TO RECOMMIT.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 410 (House Bill No. 21), on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend article nineteen section thirteen clause five of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and eighty-one entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth"

be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs.

Mr. PHIPPS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to inquire who wants the hearing?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the request comes from the Civil Service Association and also, I think, the Charter Committee. I have two or three telegrams asking for a hearing on the bill.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, who are the Civil Service Association?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the telegram is signed by the secretary.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I hope this bill is not referred back to the committee. This bill simply states "amending the civil service laws of Pennsylvania." That is to give the soldier boys and sailor boys a preference over those who stayed at home and did not go over and fight for their country. That is certainly a small request from the soldiers and sailors who ask for it, and I think it ought to be granted. I hope this bill will pass.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I want to take the same view as my colleague, Mr. Vare. This bill in every way is one which should have the united support of every one in the Senate. It provides for but the one thing, that preference should be given to all honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the war. If we can't vote for a bill like that we might as well quit.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 410, House Bill No. 21), entitled:

An Act to amend article nineteen section thirteen clause five of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and eighty-one) entitled "An act for the better government of cities of the first class of this Commonwealth"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—42.

Aron,	Donahue,	MacDade,	Schantz,
Baldwin,	Einstein,	Marlow,	Service,

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 272.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 237, (House Bill No. 272), entitled:

An Act to amend the first section of an act approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An act empowering the United States of America to acquire land in the State of Pennsylvania for National Forest Reserves by purchase or by condemnation proceedings and granting to the United States of America all rights necessary for control and regulation of such reserves" passed finally.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, before taking a vote I would like to interrogate the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I want to ask the Senator what the purpose is in having the bill reconsidered.

Mr. EYRE. The purpose is for a further hearing on the proposition. There are a number of people that would like to be heard on it, on the theory that the State of Pennsylvania would be giving away to the United States Government ultimately a very large sum of money in timber tracts.

Mr. CRAIG. Does the Senator know that at the request of persons who claimed to be opposed to the bill a public hearing, of which two weeks' notice was given, was held before the Committee on Forestry on last Tuesday afternoon at which some forty or forty-five people appeared in favor of the bill, and those who asked for a hearing claiming to be opposed to the bill said they had no objection to the passage of the bill and considered it a good measure.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, not being on the Committee on Forestry, I had no knowledge of such a meeting being held and was approached tonight by a number of gentlemen who I think were in the same position as myself, without knowledge of any hearing on the bill.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I do not want to be discourteous to the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, nor do I want to deny any one who has not had an opportunity, a right to be heard, but two weeks' notice of the hearing was given in this chamber, by posting it upon the bulletin boards and was published in practically all the newspapers in the State. Full and complete opportunity was given any one who was interested in the bill to appear and be heard, and I cannot see any excuse for any one failing to appear and waiting until after the bill is passed finally and then ask that it be recommitted for the purpose of a hearing. If there are people who have objections to the bill and there is any reason why it would work a detriment to the State if it is passed now, they should present their objections to the Governor for consideration. I hope the motion will not prevail.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, it seems to me that a bill of this importance cannot be given too great consideration and that all people who desire to be heard should be given the opportunity of being heard, especially as it is a House Bill and no harm would come by a further postponement of twenty-four or forty-eight hours. If the bill is really a meritorious one I hope the courtesy will be given these people who desire to be heard in opposition to the bill. Apparently from the statements of the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Craig, all who appeared before the committee were in favor of the bill. Now I think those who care to be heard in opposition to the bill should be given the same opportunity.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, it does seem to me that this bill is of greater importance than some of us thought in the first instance. I notice from the map in the papers today that it takes up a very big portion of the counties of my Senatorial district, and it goes into Forest county and some of Elk. It does not seem that any harm could be done by giving further opportunity to consider this measure. I do not believe it has been as carefully considered as it should be.

Mr. CRAIG. If the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, places this matter of a further hearing upon the bill as being one of importance because of the bill affecting land in his Senatorial district, of course, out of Senatorial courtesy to him, I will withdraw my objection. If it is simply a matter of courtesy to people who had an opportunity to be heard and failed to avail themselves of that privilege, I do not think they are entitled to any further consideration. However, since the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin thinks it may be of interest to his district, out of courtesy to a fellow-member of this body, I will withdraw my objection, and give notice to all parties interested that a further hearing will be held on the bill one week from tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the Committee on Forestry's room on the second floor.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the bill passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Forestry.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING AND INVITING THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLIES OF THE SEVERAL STATES OF THE UNION IN A THOROUGH AND PRACTICAL INVESTIGATION AS TO THE COST OF CROP AND LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION.

The CHAIR cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication from the Secretary of State presenting the following resolution:

Be it resolved by the Senate of the State of South Dakota, the House of Representatives concurring:

Whereas, The costs of production of farm products, including grain, livestock and poultry, dairy products, vegetables, fruits, hay, etc., ought to be a carefully considered factor in determining agricultural methods and plans; and

Whereas, Such costs, if known, would have a vital bearing upon the success and prosperity of the farmers of this state and of the Union; and

Whereas, The determination of such costs of production, and normal observance of the constitution drawn from such information would result in a better balanced farm output, adjust farm land valuations on a basis of earning capacity, and bring about reasonable returns for money invested and labor performed; and

Whereas, Efforts heretofore put forth to ascertain such costs of production have been too largely theoretical and impractical; and

Whereas, The Legislative Assembly of the State of South Dakota now in regular session, contemplate adequate provision for a thorough and practical investigation as to such costs of production; Therefore, Be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of South Dakota, the House of Representatives concurring, that the Legislative Assembly of the State of South Dakota hereby invites and requests the legislative assemblies of the several states of the Union, and particularly of our neighboring states and those other states principally engaged in and dependent upon agricultural pursuits, likewise to make adequate provision for determining Costs of Production of Farm Products, and to co-operate with the State of South Dakota in securing information by use of which the business of farming and livestock raising may be placed upon a more known and exact foundation, and, so far as possible, the elements of chance and guesswork eliminated from farming methods, and also a basis determined upon which proper financial return may be intelligently and fairly estimated; and be it further,

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and is hereby directed to transmit a certified copy of this resolution to the legislative assemblies of the several states of the Union.

CARL GUNDERSON, President of the Senate.
A. B. BLAKE, Secretary of the Senate.
C. O. BERDAHL, Speaker of the House.
WRIGHT TARBELL, Chief Clerk of the House.

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Requesting the Congress of the United States to enact national legislation to provide for government review and approval of moving picture film to be used in interstate commerce and showing to the public.

Be it resolved, by the House of Representatives of the State of South Dakota, the Senate concurring:

Whereas, There is a widespread agitation for a better supervision of moving pictures which are to be shown in places of public amusement, and whereas, there is now no government regulation for review and approval of such film to be transported in interstate commerce and shown to the public, and whereas, state review and legislation interferes with and makes a burden on the local exhibitor instead of correcting the subject at the source of production; therefore, be it,

Resolved, That we petition the Congress of the United States to enact such remedial legislation as will require the producers of all moving pictures calculated to be offered for transportation in interstate commerce and showing to the public to be reviewed by a legal board under authority of Congress to the end that all such films may have legal approval for public showing uniformly in public places of amusement within the states and territories of the United States and not be subject to individual, local or state restriction.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be instructed to send a copy of this memorial to each of the representatives from the State of South Dakota in the Congress of the United States and to the presiding officers of the House and Senate of the United States Congress, and to each legislative assembly now convened and in session in the various states of the United States.

C. O. BERDAHL,
Speaker of the House.
WRIGHT TARBELL,
Chief Clerk of the House.
CARL GUNDERSON,
President of the Senate.
A. B. BLAKE,
Secretary of the Senate.

Which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, March 21, 1921.

The House met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we stand in the presence of the flag of our country. May it be to us more than a symbol; may its eloquent silence speak to us in its white folds and hold before us an unflecked and unsoiled nation, in which truth and righteousness and justice shall be always prominent and pre-eminent. May its folds of red tell us of all the blood that has been shed, from Warren's body falling on Banker Hill to the last boy that fell in France; and may its costliness always remind us that liberty has to be paid for with a price. And may its starry glow turn our eyes heavenward, and may we ever look unto Thee, Thou who art the author of all true liberty, and there find the inspiration.

And so, O God, help us in this, the greatest experiment that has ever been made in liberty, that we may have Thee for our guide and our helper. Quell forever, we beseech Thee, the hiss of the hyphenate, and may honor have no airs and no suggestions; and may we all give to our land an undivided heart and an undying love, and may the glory be all Thine for the good of all mankind. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, March 17, 1921.

Mr. BRENDLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Concurrent Resolution No. 6, File Folio No. 1127, and move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The Resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Whereas Large sums of money were loaned by the Government of the United States to the British Government and to the governments of other nations allied with her in the World War and

Whereas It has been proposed to forgive and cancel all such debts to the respective governments and

Whereas Such moneys should properly be applied to the payment of a bonus to the men and women whose loyalty and patriotism in the military and naval service of the United States brought about the splendid victory in the World War and

Whereas If said debts are forgiven and cancelled heavy burdens of taxation must be placed on the people of this Nation in order to pay such bonus now therefor

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the sense of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it is unalterably opposed to the forgiving and cancellation of such debts to the various governments and that it urges upon the high officers of the Nation the necessity of insisting on the payment of such debts and the application of the proceeds thereof to the payment of a bonus to the soldiers sailors and marines of the World War

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE STATE TREASURER AND THE AUDITOR GENERAL TO FILE AN ACCOUNT AND REPORT.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered a resolution which was twice read as follows:

Requesting the State Treasurer and the Auditor General to file account and report as required in the Act of March 30, 1811 and also the Act of March 16, 1832.

Whereas, Section 46 of the Act of March 30, 1811, 7 Smiths Laws, page 238, provides:—That the State Treasurer shall, on the Fourth Monday of December annually, make report to the Legislature, exhibiting in detail, the receipts and expenditures of the State Treasury for the preceding year, ending on the last day of November, designating the name of every person from whom moneys were received and to whom moneys have been paid, and on what account; and the Auditor-General, shall, on the same day, annually make report which shall exhibit in the abstract, a statement of the finances of the Commonwealth, which reports of the State Treasurer and Auditor-General shall be previously printed, and six hundred copies of each delivered to the clerk of the House of Representatives, the expense of printing and all other expenses attending the same to be paid out of the aggregate funds of the Commonwealth, on warrants drawn in the usual way

Whereas, Section 1, of the Act of March 16th, 1832, P. L. 154, provides:—That it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to digest, prepare and lay before the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, at the commencement of every session, a report on the subject of finance, containing estimate of the public revenue and public expenditure, and plans for the support of public credit, and for increasing or improving the revenues from time to time, for the purpose of giving information to the General Assembly in adopting modes of raising money requisite to meet public exigencies.

And whereas, Section 2, of the said Act further provides:—That it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to annex to the annual estimate of the appropriation required for the public service of the year which may have been made by former Acts, and also a statement of the sums remaining in the Treasury from the appropriations of former years, estimating the amount of those sums which will not be required to defray expenses incurred in a previous year, and drawing the whole amount which will be subject to the disposition of the government in the year to which the estimate may apply.

And Whereas, the Honorable Harmon M. Kephart, State Treasurer, and the Honorable Charles A. Snyder, Auditor General, respectively of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have failed to file said accounts and reports as provided for in the above acts.

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That the Honorable Harmon M. Kephart, State Treasurer, and the Honorable Charles A. Snyder Auditor General, respectively of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, be, and they are hereby requested, to prepare and lay before the General Assembly at the earliest possible moment, an account and report as provided in the above acts of Assembly.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, in order that this resolution should be well considered, I move you, sir, that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REQUEST FOR CONSENT TO CALL UP BILL.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up from page six of today's calendar, bills on third reading, House Bill No. 664, File Folio No. 1719, entitled:

An Act to amend sections six and sixteen of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eight) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" as amended

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to consider House Bill No. 664 at this time? The Chair hears objections.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 45, File Folio 1999, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (P. L. 461), entitled "An act to provide for the removal or retirement of judges of the Supreme, Superior, common pleas, orphans', municipal, and county court, permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their regular judicial functions or duties, and providing for the payment of compensation to them during the balance of the term for which they may have been elected, and, in certain cases, for the remainder of their lives after resignation or retirement, and for filling the vacancies caused thereby; providing for judges who have been retired or who may have retired or resigned under provisions of previous acts or otherwise; and repealing certain acts."

be placed on the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. CRUM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 45, is the bill which would repeal the Judges' Retirement Act. This, as you know, is a bill that was passed originally, I believe, in 1911 and was amended in 1917. This bill, which would repeal that act, was introduced early in the session and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General. Action was taken on the bill before the Committee and further consideration was indefinitely postponed. Later, the Committee reconsidered that action and voted to report the bill out with a negative recommendation. The Committee went into the subject thoroughly and obtained the best information possible, not only in this House but throughout the State, and decided that it was a proper law and a law that should not be repealed. In consideration of these facts your committee reported the bill to this House with a negative recommendation. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House sustain the Committee in that report and vote "No" against this motion.

Mr. CRUM. Mr. Speaker, sometimes it is necessary to use drastic methods to secure a square deal and that explains, perhaps, the purpose of this motion. House Bill No. 45 is a bill to repeal the Judges' Retirement Act giving pensions to judges amounting to fifty per cent. of their salaries after serving twenty years on the bench, or on becoming incapacitated. This bill was introduced on or about January 25th, when it was referred to the Judiciary General Committee, where it slept soundly up until two or three weeks ago, then a few of its friends demanded that some action be taken on it, which was done. We were informed by the chairman of that committee that the bill had been indefinitely postponed. After this first set back I, personally, interviewed nineteen members of that committee, four of whom were against the bill, four were non-committal and the other eleven were in favor of reporting this bill out with an affirmative recommendation. The sponsor of this bill and myself also began a canvass of the members of this House and interviewed about two-thirds of them and were successful in securing the pledge of seventy-eight members of this House in favor of the passage of this repealer.

This bill has some merit regardless of the action of that committee. When our efforts were about to bear fruit, we were surprised and astounded that the bill had been reported out with a negative recommendation. The sponsor of this bill was promised a hearing before the bill was killed and I am convinced that the bill was foredoomed as a few members were prejudiced against it, possibly because of their aspirations for a judgeship, or because of their close associations and friendship for the present incumbents. Regardless of the action of this committee the bill certainly has some merit or we would not have secured such a large number of members in favor of the repealer. Let us look into the merits of this bill and see if the action of that Committee was justified. In the several courts of the State of Pennsylvania there are one hundred and fifty-two judges drawing salaries.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Dithrich, will state his point of order.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is: That the gentleman is discussing the merits of the bill and not the action of the committee in reporting the bill out with a negative recommendation.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Huntingdon is in order and will proceed.

Mr. CRUM. Mr. Speaker, there are one hundred and fifty-two judges drawing salaries aggregating $1,500,000, and a fair average for each year and there is no doubt but that the judges are receiving salaries commensurate with the service they are rendering, as we have never heard of one judge resigning from the bench because of insufficient remuneration. They are not only well paid, but they have been elevated to the highest position of honor and trust at the disposal of the voters of this Commonwealth, which in itself has a monetary value equal to that which is a guaranteed salary which they are now getting. The intelligence of the judges is above the ordinary and they certainly are capable of saving a part of these enormous salaries and investing from that sum as you and I must do in order to lay by something for a rainy day, which is an item amounting from $5,300 to $9,000 per year. This pension bill is asking us to support these pensions and it is nothing more or less than an odious piece of class legislation that should be repealed. How many of you know of veterans of the Civil War or of the late World War who are receiving any such pensions? Then take our physicians who are responsible for our entrance into this world and who look after our bodily ills; I ask, are they less deserving than our judges? Take our clergymen who are responsible to a certain extent for a high standard of character, and how much less are they deserving of a pension than our judges?

Take our school teachers who are laying the foundations of our civilization for to-morrow. How much less are they deserving of a pension than our judges? It is true they all will receive a pension but it is true too that the teachers' retirement fund is supported by the contributions of those teachers themselves. Take our farmers who toil early and late cultivating the ground to produce the things necessary for the sustenance of life. Are they not just as deserving as our judges? The same argument applies to every class and profession, the banker, the merchant, the lawyer and that great army of industrial workers, not one of whom is receiving a pension, and they are just as much entitled to a pension as the judges of our court. If one fourth of the judges of this State are retired and placed upon this pension roll they will receive one hundred and eighty thousand dollars a year if one-half of the judges of this State are placed upon the pension roll they will receive one hundred and sixty thousand dollars, a sum greater than the appropriation to the mothers' assistance fund two years ago. How are we going to square ourselves with our constituency if we permit a pension system to continue that compels more than four thousand needy mothers and children to subsist and exist, if exist it can be called, upon a sum less than is given to the judges of this State who live in luxury. A pension system is un-American, and will paralyze human endeavor, human effort, human initiative and human ambition. If we extend this system to the other classes we will produce a race of men and women that will be thriftless, extravagant and wasteful.

Gentlemen of the House, there is one other phase of this situation that must be considered. The sponsor of this bill, my colleague, Major Wolfe, has been baffled at every turn by a few prejudice obstructionists, and, gentlemen, I appeal to your sense of fairness that he be not allowed to suffer this humiliation and mistreatment. I ask you to right this wrong and place this bill on the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, you have heard the actions of your fathers, the actions of your grandfathers and the actions possibly of your brothers, and perchance some day your own actions, called un-American by the gentleman from Huntingdon, when he says that all pensions are un-American so that they whose fathers fought in the Civil War or in the Spanish American War or they who grace this hall and have fought in the World's War and may some day be called upon to accept from the federal government a pension are in the language of the gentleman from Huntingdon, un-American. But he speaks tonight on a subject that is far afield from that which we are to consider. We are asked to aid in the passage of a bill repealing the judges pension act and I wish to say to you that he has not told you how many judges are on the pension roll of Pennsylvania. I wish to ask you where has he shown the evil that anyone of them has done, and I wish to ask you again are you willing to crucify a man who for at least twenty years has served you in the highest situation in this Commonwealth because of a political situation in one or two counties of this State where they are anxious to defeat at least two sitting judges and to keep them off the pension list. There are but six judges in the State of Pennsylvania to-day on the pension list and the pay roll amounts to two thousand four hundred and twenty-eight dollars a month, or a total of twenty-nine thousand one hundred and thirty-six dollars a year. When they went on the bench this act was held out to them and they have not, as our friend from Huntingdon suggests, practiced on the outside. They have been compelled to give up at times a good practice to accept the honor. He says, "Who ever heard of a judge resigning because he could not live on the salary?" There sits at my side the worthy son of a distinguished sire who sat upon our bench in Philadelphia, and who because of the incompetence of the salary was compelled in order to support himself and his family to resign and return to the practice of the law. I am associated in the practice of the law with a judge who sat on one of the Appellate Court benches and who because of the inadequacy of the salary was compelled to retire and go back into private practice. There are but two instances that I know of and you men from the four corners of this State may know more, but there is not and there has not been given a single reason tonight to show why this act should be repealed, and these old men, for some of them are quite old, two of whom I know are now suffering from paralysis agitans are waiting for the day when their turn will be up that they may not merely retire that they may not merely get one half of their present salary, but that under the act when their attention is needed by the sitting judges to aid in those matters which are before the court that they shall be called to serve and serve without pay. The bill as we have it tonight is unjust, it is purely a piece of legislative chicanery and we ought to defeat it and defeat this motion to do a most unworthy, no, more than that, a dastardly act to men who have served this State, honestly, fearlessly and fairly.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, if to oppose this motion places me in the category of a reactionary obstructionist, if to oppose this motion places me in the class of those who favor class legislation then I desire, Mr. Speaker, to be ranked in that class. I will pass over the abuse that the gentleman from Huntingdon cast at the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee, because the gentleman must have been misinformed. Never, Mr. Speaker, was a request made of the Chairman of this Committee for a public hearing on this bill. Every member of this House knows that there have been more public hearings granted by the Judiciary General Committee than by any other Committee of this House. I say that if the gentleman who sponsors this bill, a very close personal friend of mine, had asked for a hearing it would have been granted. Mr. Speaker, it was not until the gentleman from Huntingdon circulated the petition through the House asking for a vote to discharge the committee from further consideration of this bill that the committee met and took action, which resulted in the bill being reported to this House with a negative recommendation.

Are we to legislate for the sixty-seven counties of this Commonwealth, or are we to legislate to help out a political situation in possibly one or two counties of the State where the retirement of judges,—the pensioning of judges happens to be a political issue at this particular time? Is that why we are here? Is that the duty we owe to the Commonwealth or to the people of this State? Do we legislate to help out one judicial contest, or do we legislate to keep on the statute books an act that never has been abused, an act that has always been efficient in all that it provides?

The gentleman speaks of physicians not being pensioned. Of course they are not, because they are free to practice as long as they are able to do so. The judges cannot do that. They are elected in all of our courts, except our appellate courts, for a term of ten years, and after they serve that time they retire. It is almost impossible for them to go into active practice again and compete with other and younger lawyers. The gentleman has lost sight of the fact that this act provides for a pension if a man becomes mentally and physically incapacitated. If they become so, what are we going to do with them? Are we going to cast them into the junk heap, into the discard, and pay them nothing, the men who have given years of their time, of their ability, of their talents, in administering justice in the State? Then if the man becomes physically or mentally incapacitated, is he no longer to receive any remuneration, or is he to become an object of private or public charity? The gentleman speaks of men not retiring. Are you going to impose upon the man because he finds the duties of the bench a little more congenial than active practice? Are you going to say to him, because he is willing to do this, "This salary you have is all the great State of Pennsylvania can give you?" I do not believe that you will.

This bill has been before this House time and time again, and has been thoroughly discussed; every phase of it has been seriously considered, and time after time the bill has been upheld. I ask you gentlemen not only to uphold the honor of the committee in reporting this bill with a negative recommendation, but to show by your vote that you approve of the present law.

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to bring before the members of the House at this time a specific request from one of the men who would be a beneficiary under the act, who asks the members of this House to use their intelligence and vote for the repeal of this act, in the face of the negative recommendation, as it has been presented. No later than yesterday afternoon, one of the illustrious judges of our court made a special trip to my residence and asked me if I would not convey to this House his express opinion of a judge who was able to look after that so-called "rainy day," and I am going to act according to his suggestion, and I am going to see to it that anything I can do is going to be exerted in the same way. I am one of those who believes that pensions for anything other than services rendered to the country and to the government by the risk of human life or at the shedding of human blood, is un-American. I believe that this act should be repealed even in the face of the negative recommendation of the committee.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, there was one statement made by the gentleman from Huntingdon, Mr. Crum, that finds a harmonious note in my own makeup, one of which I entirely approve, and that is that it is unfortunate in the State of Pennsylvania that lawyers are not pensioned. I think lawyers should be pensioned, and I would gladly vote for any such bill. Mr. Thomas, the gentleman who last addressed us, brought us a message from a man, a message that I cannot admire. I would not say that such a message was generous; I would not say that such a message was an honorable one, and I would not say that such a message was an unselfish one, for one judge to say to you members of the House that because he is willing, because he is able, because he is satisfied to meet the rainy day and is able to do so, that all the other judges of the Commonwealth should shift for themselves. I, for one, would not accuse the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or the government of the United States or any municipality thereof of being over-generous, either with their pay during a man's continuance in office or in any retirement system or any pension system. It is true, as Mr. Thomas said, that a man who served in the war is entitled to a pension. In my own experience I say to you that I would rather spend ten years in the service than ten years on the bench. I have seen the judges work. There is a lot of work. Speaking about rainy days, the lawyer who does not go on the bench does not meet the rainy days. The man who gives up a remunerative practice to go on the bench, even though he may not have a spendthrift son of a worthy sire like the man who sits here tonight, does not get sufficient money to see him through. It is hard enough to get the Legislature to grant any increases in salaries, and difficult enough to get them to agree to a pension system, and I hope that it will be much more difficult to get them to take back something which they gave, something which they gave after due consideration, something which after having been given, is not a bit too much. I trust that you will vote down this motion.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to move to have this bill recommitted to the Judiciary Special Committee for a hearing.

The SPEAKER. The bill is not yet on the calendar, the bill is not before the House.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. Speaker, my reason for presenting this bill came from a large number of constituents whom I represent, farmers and laboring men, who are very much opposed to the pensioning of judges. Their reasons are same. They ask why a judge should be pensioned when there is no pension provided for the farmer and laboring man. All of the judges of the State are not in favor of this bill. I have in my hand here a letter from Judge Thomas F. Bailey, who says, "I am strongly in favor of this repeal measure. I believe that the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas receive ample compensation. There exists no more reason for granting this emolument to judges, upon their retirement from the bench, than for an old age pension to farmers or workmen or to any other of our industrial classes. Old age pensions should be granted to all or to none."

It is true that we do pension the school teachers, but they contribute towards that fund. The judges of our courts are not asked to contribute towards the fund for their pensions. I have here also a letter from a judge in Luzerne county, the Hon. J. M. Gorman, in which he says that should he live until the end of his term that he will be entitled to the pension under the Act of 1919, but he says that it is un-American and unbecoming, and that he will not ask the people of this Commonwealth to pay him a pension, after he has received a sufficient salary for his services. I would ask the gentlemen of this House that they vote to put this bill on the calendar.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, we have before us at this time a motion to place a bill on the calendar, regardless of the negative recommendation. I believe we are all familiar with the motion as it is before us, and I therefore move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs. Heffernan, J. W. Smith, Sterling, Glass, Dunn, Edmonds, Sowers, Golder, Conner, McOwen, Dithrich, Brooks, McCarthy, Baldi, Ehrhardt, McCaig, Stadtlander, Hough, Krugh, Drinkhouse, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

The Speaker declared the "nays" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and one hundred and fifty-seven members, or more than a constitutional majority, having voted in the affirmative, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion to place bill on calendar?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Wolfe and Mr. Crum and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. BALDI asked and received unanimous consent to call up House Bill No. 640, file folio 1651, on page 3 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BALDI,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 640, entitled:

An Act authorizing the appointment of interpreters by the several courts in counties of the first and second class and providing for their compensation

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Baldi, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDI. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. What change does this make in the existing law?

Mr. BALDI. It increases the salaries of the interpreters in the Common Pleas Courts from $2,500.000 to $3,500.00.

Mr. EDMONDS. That is the only change?

Mr. BALDI. Yes, the five interpreters connected with the Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia, and five in the County Courts of Allegheny County.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill providing for an increase of one thousand dollars in the salaries of certain interpreters in cities of the first and second classes. The present salary is twenty-five hundred dollars a year, and the proposed salary is thirty-five hundred dollars. It seems to me that the time has come when we ought to consider upon what basis these increases are being asked. These interpreters of the courts perform a public duty for which they are paid twenty-five hundred dollars a year. Personally, I am willing to vote, in the first place for increases in salaries for those who are getting below what is the necessary remuneration for existence in the communities where they are serving. These salaries are above that to-day. I am willing to vote, in the second place for increases in the salary for highly trained technical men where it is necessary that these positions be made attractive in order to get the best talent for these positions. That is not the case here. I am willing to vote, in the third place, for increases where they have a good executive who supervises the work they are doing and sees to it that they work well, and who finally comes to you and says that these increases ought to be given. That is not so in this case. These salaries are not being asked for by any executive. I have communicated with the president judges of the courts in Philadelphia, and have received letters from two of them, stating, in their judgment, there is no public demand for these increases in salary at the present time. When the increase is once voted for, the people have got to pay for it, and it seems to me that this is not the class of salaries that ought to be increased at this time. Therefore, I ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Baldi, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDI. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GREEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has consulted with councils in Philadelphia. The city of Philadelphia has to pay these increases, and I would like to know if he has asked councils concerning them.

Mr. BALDI. I have not, because this is a law in itself.

Mr. GREEN. Do you think it is the proper thing to come here to Harrisburg and legislate for these increases when council has not been consulted?

Mr. BALDI. I do, so far as the interpreters in Philadelphia are concerned; they are connected with the Common Pleas Court.

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 6.

Whereas Large sums of money were loaned by the Government of the United States to the British Government and to the governments of other nations allied with her in the World War and

Whereas It has been proposed to forgive and cancel all such debts to the respective governments and

Whereas Such moneys should properly be applied to the payment of a bonus to the men and women whose loyalty and patriotism in the military and naval service of the United States brought about the splendid victory in the World War and

Whereas If said debts are forgiven and canceled heavy burdens of taxation must be placed on the people of this Nation in order to pay such bonus now therefor

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the sense of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it is unalterably opposed to the forgiving and cancellation of such debts to the various governments and that it urges upon the high officers of the Nation the necessity of insisting on the payment of such debts and the application of the proceeds thereof to the payment of a bonus to the soldiers sailors and marines of the World War

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That Definition of Terms In this act "Conditional Sale" means (1) any contract for the sale of goods under which possession is delivered to the buyer and the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer at a subsequent time upon the payment of part or all of the price or upon the performance of any other condition or the happening of any contingency or (2) any contract for the bailment or leasing of goods by which the bailee or lessee contracts to pay as compensation a sum substantially equivalent to the value of the goods and by which it is agreed that the bailee or lessee is bound to become or has the option of becoming the owner of such goods upon full compliance with the terms of the contract

"Buyer" means the person who buys or hires the goods covered by the conditional sale or any legal successor in interest of such person

"Filing district" means the sub-division of the State in which conditional sale contracts or copies thereof are required by this act to be filed

"Goods" means all chattels personal other than things in action and money and includes emblements industrial growing crops and things attached to or forming a part of land which are agreed to be severed before sale or under the conditional sale

"Performance of the condition" means the occurrence of the event upon which the property in the goods is to vest in the buyer whether such event is the performance of an act by the buyer or the happening of a contingency

"Person" includes an individual partnership corporation and any other association

"Purchase" includes mortgage and pledge

"Purchaser" includes mortgagee and pledgee

"Seller" means the person who sells or leases the goods covered by the conditional sale or any legal successor in interest of such person

Section 2 Primary Rights of Buyer The buyer shall have the right when not in default to retain possession of the goods and he shall also have the right to acquire the property in the goods on the performance of the conditions of the contract The seller shall be liable to the buyer for the breach of all promises and warranties express or implied made in the conditional sale contract whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer

Section 3 Primary Rights of Seller The buyer shall be liable to the seller for the purchase price or for installments thereof as the same shall become due and for breach of all promises made by him in the conditional sale contract whether or not the property in the goods has passed to the buyer

Section 4 Conditional Sales Valid Except as Otherwise Provided Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller after possession of the goods is delivered to the buyer shall be valid as to all persons except as hereinafter otherwise provided

Section 5 Conditional Sales Void as to Certain Persons Every provision in a conditional sale reserving property in the seller shall be void as to any purchaser from or creditor of the buyer who without notice of such provision purchases the goods or acquires by attachment or levy a lien upon them before the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed as hereinafter provided unless such contract or copy is so filed within ten days after the making of the conditional sale

Section 6 Place of Filing The conditional sale contract or copy shall be filed in the office of the prothonotary in the county in which the goods are first kept for use by the buyer after the sale It shall not be necessary to the validity of such conditional sale contract or in order to entitle it to be filed that it be acknowledged or attested This section shall not apply to the contracts described in section eight

Section 7 Fixtures If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become a part thereof and not to be severable wholly or in any portion without material injury to the freehold the reservation of property as to any portion not so severable shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against any person who has not expressly assented to the reservation If the goods are so affixed to realty at the time of a conditional sale or subsequently as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold the reservation of property shall be void after the goods are so affixed as against subsequent purchasers of the realty for value and without notice of the conditional seller's title unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are or are to be affixed thereto shall be filed before such purchase in the office where a deed of the realty would be recorded or registered to affect such realty As against the owner of realty the reservation of the property in goods by a conditional seller shall be void when such goods are to be so affixed to the realty as to become part thereof but to be severable without material injury to the freehold unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof together with a statement signed by the seller briefly describing the realty and stating that the goods are to be affixed thereto shall be filed before they are affixed in the office where a deed would be recorded or registered to affect such realty

Section 8 Railroad Equipment or Rolling Stock No conditional sale of railroad or street or interurban railway equipment or rolling stock shall be valid as against the purchasers and creditors described in section five unless the contract shall be acknowledged by the buyer or attested in like manner as a deed of real property and the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed or recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein the same is located and unless when any engine or car so sold is delivered there shall then be plainly and conspicuously marked upon each side thereof the name of the seller followed by the word "owner"

Section 9 Conditional Sale of Goods for Resale When goods are delivered under a conditional sale contract and the seller expressly or impliedly consents that the buyer may resell them prior to performance of the condition the reservation of property shall be void against purchasers from the buyer for value in the ordinary course of business and as to them the buyer shall be deemed the owner of the goods even though the contract or a copy thereof shall be filed according to the provisions of this act

Section 10 Filing The filing officer shall mark upon the contract or copy filed with him the day and hour of filing and shall file the contract or copy in his office for public inspection He shall keep a separate book in which he shall enter the names of the seller and buyer the date of the contract the day and hour of filing a brief description of goods the price named in the contracts and the date of cancellation thereof except that in entering the contracts mentioned in section eight

the recorder of deeds shall record either the sum remaining to be paid upon the contract or the price of the goods Such book shall be indexed under the names of both seller and buyer For filing and entering such contract or copy the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents except that for filing and entering a contract described in section eight the recorder of deeds shall be entitled to the same fee as he is now allowed by law for similar services

Section 11 Refiling The filing of conditional sale contracts provided for in sections five six and seven shall be valid for a period of three years only The filing of the contract provided for by section eight shall be valid for a period of fifteen years only The validity of the filing may in each case be extended for successive additional periods of one year from the date of refiling by filing in the proper filing district a copy of the original contract within thirty days next preceding the expiration of each period with a statement attached signed by the seller showing that the contract is in force and the amount remaining to be paid thereon Such copy with statement attached shall be filed and entered in the same manner as a contract or copy filed and entered for the first time and the filing officer shall be entitled to a like fee as upon the original filing

Section 12 Cancellation of Contract After the performance of the condition upon written demand delivered personally or by registered mail by the buyer or any other person having an interest in the goods the seller shall execute acknowledge and deliver to the demandant a statement that the condition in the contract has been performed If for ten days after such demand the seller fails to mail or deliver such a statement of satisfaction he shall forfeit to the demandant five dollars and be liable for all damages suffered Upon presentation of such statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall file the same and note the cancellation of the contract and the date thereof on the margin of the page where the contract has been entered For filing and entering the statement of satisfaction the filing officer shall be entitled to a fee of thirty cents except that the recorder of deeds shall be entitled to a fee of fifty cents for filing and entering a statement of the satisfaction of a contract described in section eight

Section 13 Prohibition of Removal or Sale Without Notice Unless the contract otherwise provides the buyer may without the consent of the seller remove the goods from any filing district and sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them but prior to the performance of the condition no such buyer shall remove the goods from a filing district in which the contract or a copy thereof is filed except for temporary uses for a period of not more than thirty days unless the buyer not less than ten days before such removal shall give the seller personally or by registered mail written notice of the place to which the goods are to be removed and the approximate time of such intended removal nor prior to the performance of the condition shall the buyer sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in the goods unless he or the person to whom he is about to sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of the same shall notify the seller in writing personally or by registered mail of the name and address of the person to whom his interest in the goods is about to be sold mortgaged or otherwise transferred not less than ten days before such sale mortgage or other disposal If any buyer does so remove the goods or does so sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of his interest in them without such notice or in violation of the contract the seller may retake possession of the goods and deal with them as in case of default in payment of part or all of the purchase price The provisions of this section regarding the removal of goods shall not apply however to the goods described in section eight

Section 14 Refiling on Removal When prior to the performance of the condition the goods are removed by the buyer from a filing district in this State to another filing district in this state in which such contract or a copy thereof is not filed or are removed from another state into a filing district in this state where such contract or copy is not filed the reservation of the property in the seller shall be void as to the purchasers and creditors described in section five unless the conditional sale contract or a copy thereof shall be filed in the filing district to which the goods are removed within ten days after the seller has received notice of the filing district to which the goods have been removed The provisions of this section shall not apply however to the goods described in section eight The provisions of section eleven regarding the duration of the validity of the filing and the necessity for refiling shall apply to contracts or copies which are filed in a filing district other than that where the goods are originally kept for use by the buyer after the sale

Section 15 Fraudulent Injury Concealment Removal or Sale When prior to the performance of the condition the buyer maliciously or with intent to defraud shall injure destroy or conceal the goods or remove them to a filing district where the contract or a copy thereof is not filed without having given the notice required by section thirteen or shall sell mortgage or otherwise dispose of such goods under claim of full ownership he shall be guilty of a crime and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the county jail for not more than one year or be fined not more than five hundred dollars or both

Section 16 Retaking Possession When the buyer shall be in default in the payment of any sum due under the contract or in the performance of any other condition which the contract requires him to perform in order to obtain the property in the goods or in the performance of any promise the breach of which is by the contract expressly made a ground for the retaking of the goods the seller may retake possession thereof Unless the goods can be retaken without breach of the peace they shall be retaken by legal process but nothing herein shall be construed to authorize a violation of the criminal law

Section 17 Notice of Intention to Retake Not more than forty nor less than twenty days prior to the retaking the seller if he so desires may serve upon the buyer personally or by registered mail a notice of intention to retake the goods on account of the buyer's default The notice shall state the default and the period at the end of which the goods will be retaken and shall briefly and clearly state what the buyer's rights under this act will be in case they are retaken If the notice is so served and the buyer does not perform the obligations in which he has made default before the day set for retaking the seller may take the goods and hold them subject to the provisions of sections nineteen twenty twenty-one twenty-two and twenty-three regarding the sale but without any right of redemption

Section 18 Redemption If the seller does not give the notice of intention to retake described in section seventeen he shall retain the goods for ten days after the retaking within the state in which they were located when retaken during which period the buyer upon payment or tender of the amount due under the contract at the time of retaking and interest or upon performance or tender of performance of such other condition as may be named in the contract as precedent to the passage of the property in the goods or upon performance or tender of performance of any other promise for the breach of which the goods were retaken and upon payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storage may redeem the goods and become entitled to take possession of them and to continue in the performance of the contract as if no default had occurred Upon written demand delivered personally or by registerd mail by the buyer the seller shall furnish to the buyer a written statement of the sum due under the contract and the expense of retaking keeping and storage For failure to furnish such statement within a reasonable time after demand the seller shall forfeit to the buyer ten dollars and also be liable to him for all damages suffered because of such failure If the goods are perishable so that retention for ten days as herein prescribed would result in their destruction or substantial injury the provisions of this section shall not apply and the seller may resell the goods immediately upon their retaking The provision of this section requiring the retention of goods within the state during the period allowed for redemption shall not apply to the goods described in section eight

Section 19 Compulsory Resale by Seller If the buyer does not redeem the goods within ten days after the seller has retaken possession and the buyer has paid at least fifty per centum of the purchase price at the time of the retaking the seller shall sell them at public auction in the state where they were at the time of the retaking such sale to be held not more than thirty days after the retaking The seller shall give to the buyer not less than ten days' written notice of the sale either personally or by registered mail directed to the buyer at his last known place of business or residence The seller shall also give notice of the sale by at least three notices posted in different public places within the filing district where the goods are to be sold at least five days before the sale If at the time of the retaking five hundred dollars or more has been paid on the purchase price the seller shall also give notice of the sale at least five days before the sale by publication in a newspaper published or having a general circulation within the filing district where the goods are to be sold The seller may bid for the goods at the resale If the goods are of the kind described in section eight the parties may fix in the conditional sale contract the place where the goods shall be resold

Section 20 Resale at Option of Parties If the buyer has not paid at least fifty per cent of the purchase at the time of the retaking the seller shall not be under a duty to resell the goods as prescribed in section nineteen unless the buyer serves upon the seller within ten days after the retaking a written notice demanding a resale delivered personally or by registered mail If such notice is served the resale shall take place within thirty days after the service in the manner at the place and upon the notice prescribed in section nineteen The seller may voluntarily resell the goods for account of the buyer on compliance with the same requirements

Section 21 Process of Resale The proceeds of the resale shall be applied (1) to the payment of the expenses thereof (2) to the payment of the expenses of retaking keeping and storing the goods (3) to the satisfaction of the balance due under the contract Any sum remaining after the satisfaction of such claims shall be paid to the buyer

Section 22 Deficiency on Resale If the proceeds of the resale are not sufficient to defray the expenses thereof and also the expenses of retaking keeping and storing the goods and the balance due upon the purchase price the seller may recover the deficiency from the buyer or from any one who has succeeded to the obligations of the buyer

Section 23 Rights of Parties Where There is no Resale Where there is no resale the seller may retain the goods as his own property without obligation to account to the buyer except as provided in section twenty-five and the buyer shall be discharged of all obligation

Section 24 Election of Remedies After the retaking of possession as provided in section sixteen the buyer shall be liable for the price only after resale and only to the extent provided in section twenty-two Neither the bringing of an action by the seller for the recovery of the whole or any part of the price nor the recovery of judgment in such action nor the collection of a portion of the price shall be deemed inconsistent with a later retaking of the goods as provided in section sixteen But such right of retaking shall not be exercised by the seller after he has collected the entire price or after he has claimed a lien upon the goods or attached them or levied upon them as the goods of the buyer

Section 25 Recovery of Part Payments If the seller fails to comply with the provisions of sections eighteen nineteen twenty twenty-one and twenty-three after retaking the goods the buyer may recover from the seller his actual damages if any and in no event less than one-fourth of the sum of all payments which have been made under the conract with interest

Section 26 Waiver of Statutory Protection No act or agreement of the buyer before or at the time of the making of the contract nor any agreement or statement by the buyer in such contract shall constitute a valid waiver of the provisions of sections eighteen nineteen twenty- twenty-one and twenty-five except that the contract may stipulate that on such default of the buyer as is provided for in section sixteen the seller may rescind the conditional sale either as to all the goods or as to any part thereof for which a specific price was fixed in the contract If the contract thus provides for rescission the seller at his option may retake such goods without complying with or being bound by the provisions of sections seventeen to twenty-five inclusive as to the goods retaken upon crediting the buyer with the full purchase price of those goods So much of this credit as is necessary to cancel any indebtedness of the buyer to the seller shall be so applied and the seller shall repay to the buyer on demand any surplus not so required

Section 27 Loss and Increase After the delivery of the goods to the buyer and prior to the retaking of them by the seller the risk of injury and loss shall rest upon the buyer The increase of the goods shall be subject to the same conditions as the original goods

Section 28 Act Prospective Only This act shall not apply to conditional sales made prior to the time when it takes effect

Section 29 Rules for Cases not Provided for In any case not provided for in this act the rules of law and equity including the law merchant and in particular those relating to principal and agent and to the effect of fraud misrepresentation duress or coercion mistake bankruptcy or other invalidating cause shall continue to apply to conditional sales

Section 30 Uniformity of Interpretation This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it

Section 31 Short Title This act may be cited as the Uniform Conditional Sale Act

Section 32 Inconsistent Laws Repealed Except so far as they are applicable to conditional sales made prior to the time when this act takes effect the following act shall be and is hereby repealed to wit

The act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and sixty-six) entitled "An act defining conditional sales and regulating the recording and effect thereof and providing penalties"

All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That so much of section one hundred and ten of chapter five article one of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto" which reads as follows

"When any township of the first class is organized there shall be elected at the municipal election following one township commissioner from each election district who need not reside in the election district for which he is elected In any such townships having less than five election districts the number of township commissioners shall be five and the number of commissioners equal to the difference between five and the number of election districts shall be elected at large At such election the township commissioners elected in even-numbered districts shall be elected for a term of two years and the township commissioners elected at large and in odd-numbered districts shall be elected for a term of four years or vice verse as the case may be in order that the terms may harmonize with the elections in townships organized prior to the passage of this act" is hereby amended to read as follows

When any township of the first class is organized there shall be elected at the municipal election following one township commissioner from each election district who need not reside in the election district for which he is elected In any such townships having less than five election districts the number of township commissioners shall be five and the number of commissioners equal to the difference between five and the number of election districts shall be elected at large At such election the township commissioners elected in even-numbered districts shall be elected for a term of two years and the township commissioners elected at large and in odd-numbered districts shall be elected for a term of four years or vice versa as the case may be and in townships not divided into election districts two of said commissioners shall be elected for a two year term and three for a four year term in order that the terms may harmonize with the elections in townships organized prior to the passage of this act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 554, as follows:

An Act authorizing the holders of bonds of loan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania series "B" issued under date of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one to exchange the same for other bonds of the said Commonwealth and authorizing the Governor and the Auditor General and State Treasurer to issue new bonds in exchange for the same

Whereas Pursuant to the provisions of an act of Assembly approved the eighteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws sixty-two) the Auditor General and the State Treasurer advertised and offered for sale twelve million dollars ($12,000,000) loan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania series "B" and

Whereas At the time said loan was offered for sale money was commanding such a rate of interest that bonds bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum per annum the maximum rate authorized by said act of Assembly failed to attract investors and said officers received no bid for said loan or any part thereof and

Whereas The obligations of the Commonwealth under then existing contracts for construction of State highways made it imperative that said bonds be sold in order to meet said obligations and

Whereas After the failure to secure a subscription for any part of said loan the Governor induced certain financial institutions of the Commonwealth to buy eleven million eight hundred thousand dollars ($11,800,000) of said bonds on a three-year basis at the interest rate of four and one-half per centum per annum with the understanding and promise that the Governor would recommend to the Legislature at its next session that the act of Assembly authorizing the issuance of said bonds be amended by changing the maximum interest rate fixed therein to six per centum per annum and would further recommend to the Legislature the enactment of law permitting the holders of said bonds to exchange the same for other bonds of a longer term with a higher rate of interest and

Whereas By an act of Assembly approved the sixteenth day of February Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one the said act of Assembly authorizing the issuance of said bonds was amended by fixing the maximum rate of interest at six per centum per annum now therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Auditor General and State Treasurer under the direction of the Governor are hereby authorized to give notice to the holders of bonds of series "B" loan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania issued under said date of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty in such manner by advertisement or otherwise as the Governor may direct that said bonds may be exchanged for other bonds of said Commonwealth to be known as "series 'B' loan of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania" to be issued as of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one bearing such a rate of interest and for such a term and subject to the payment of such premium as the next regular issue of bonds sold under the provisions of the said act of April eighteenth one thousand nine hundred and nineteen as amended Provided however That the owners or holders of said bonds shall on or before August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one file with the State Treasurer or Auditor General a request to have said bonds exchanged and shall at the same time deposit with the State Treasurer the bonds to be exchanged together with the amount of premium due under this act No person who has failed to file said request deposit said bonds and pay said premium as provided shall be entitled to make such exchange

Section 2 The Governor on behalf of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized to issue as of August second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one bonds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in an amount equal to the bonds filed for exchange with the State Treasurer as aforesaid said bonds to be subject to the same terms and conditions as the bonds which are being exchanged except that the new bonds shall be for the same term and shall bear interest at the same rate and be subject to the payment of the same premium as the next series of bonds issued or to be issued by the Commonwealth All bonds issued under authority of this act shall be executed in the same manner as other bonds issued under said act of April eighteenth Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nineteen as amended All bonds offered and turned in to the State Treasurer for exchange under the provisions of this act shall after the issuance of new bonds and substitution therefor be cancelled and thereafter all payments of interest thereon shall cease

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate adjourned at 5.25 P. M. until Wednesday, March 23, 1921, at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 22, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. U. Heinmann, offered the following prayer:

O Father of all Mercies, we thank Thee for the manifold blessings that Thou hast heaped upon us; and not the least among the multitudinous gifts is that inward monitor that we call our conscience. We pray Thee that Thou will help us keep it ever inviolate, even as Thou would have us keep truth and honor and justice; and may it never become seared as with a hot iron, that we may be willing to listen to the siren voices of those who would ask us to accept selfishness or the dictates of men or any other human device whereby we should turn from the path of rectitude and right. And help us ever to remember that when we are in accordance with that inward monitor, that we can look unto Thee for Thy blessing. Help us further to remember that we shall at the last day have to answer, and make that gentle voice that would lead us right now, to become at the last the fiery accuser and the stern judge.

Keep us in our frailty and sins and faults, and help us ever to seek the highest and the best way, that we may glorify Thy name and honor Thee in all our days. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

Section 9 This act shall become effective sixty days after its approval by the Governor

Section 10 The act of May thirteenth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and eight) entitled "An act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixtures thereof" and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed The repeal of any or all such acts however shall not operate to revive any act or acts general local or special heretofore expressly or impliedly repealed

No violation committed prior to the date of this act taking effect and no indictment or other criminal proceeding of any nature shall abate by reason of the repeal of said acts or parts of acts but all proceedings on any indictments now pending and every criminal proceeding of every nature shall proceed and every violation committed prior to the date of this act taking effect may be prosecuted as if this act had not been passed

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, the legislation that we have for our consideration this morning is an earnest endeavor to enforce and make effective here in the State of Pennsylvania the Constitution of the United States. While I shall not attempt this morning to discuss in a technical manner the provisions of this bill, for I have asked some other friends of the measure to do that, it will be my purpose only in a general way to explain what we are trying to do. I think I might do that in the words of the newspaper article that appeared in the public press just a short while ago and while I will not vouch for the truth of the article, it goes something like this. That we have in this country at the present time a certain species of the canine family that goes through a very original and unique process in order to get rid of fleas. It is said that this certain kind of dog when he finds that his fur is too full of fleas for comfort, and his peace of mind is becoming somewhat endangered, he goes out into the orchard and breaks a little limb off a peach tree and takes this little branch of the peach tree in his mouth and goes down to the bank of the river. The dog then lies down on the bank of the river so that the tip of his tail just hangs over in the water. Now it is understood that fleas do not like water very well. So as the dog's tail becomes submerged the fleas immediately begin to jump from the dog's tail over on his back. The dog then begins a slow backward kind of movement and slides down into the water and as he does so the fleas immediately begin to vacate the rear end of the dog and jump over on the front end. After a while the dog is all under water except the top of his head and the tip of his nose and the fleas have all gathered there. Just as that part of the dog's anatomy goes down beneath the raging waves the fleas all hop over on the peach branch and the dog leaves go, jumps out on the bank and watches the little raft float down the stream. Now while I do not vouch for the truth of this article, it represents in a way what we are trying to do here in the State of Pennsylvania this morning. In other words the Volstead Act is all right but it has quite a number of fleas on it here in the State of Pennsylvania, in the shape of bootleggers who are selling liquor. We want to take the Volstead Act down to the river, in other words we want to dip it in a good strong solution and we believe that within sixty days after the passage of this act at least some of these bootleggers will jump over on the front end and that it will not be a very long time after that until many more of them will be over on the peach limb floating away down the stream. Would it not be rather peculiar gentlemen, rather a peculiar situation here in the State of Pennsylvania for us to give sanction to a law, to give State-wide approval to a law, which would make it necessary for a man to procure the signature of twelve men to certify to his good moral character and compel that man to pay a license of one thousand or twelve hundred dollars a year just for the privilege of selling butter milk or soft drinks. We believe that the men who are so anxious to pay a license this morning in the State of Pennsylvania are not doing it for any philanthropic reasons. We believe that they do not wish to fill the treasury of the State of Pennsylvania with money, but on the other hand to procure the sanction of the State of Pennsylvania to do something which it would be illegal to do without a license.

We have as our witnesses this morning here in the hall of the House two antagonistic forces as spectators. We have the womanhood of the State of Pennsylvania and we have the liquor dealers of the State of Pennsylvania. When we sat here under similar conditions two years ago we were confronted by the same two bodies of spectators. But, My! how things have changed since then. At that time the womanhood of the State of Pennsylvania were without the ballot. They were not enfranchised; they had no right to express themselves at the ballot box, and at that time the liquor dealers association of the State of Pennsylvania was a legalized, going concern. But to-day matters have changed materially. The womanhood are represented here back of the rail this morning and down along the side lines, but they are not, gentlemen, in the same helpless condition we found them in two years ago. They are now waiting with the ballot in their hands, ready to go to the ballot box and express their will for the enforcement of the laws of the State of Pennsylvania; while on the other hand we see a legalized, going concern that was two years ago the liquor dealers association now degenerated into a little crowd of bootleggers. We remember very distinctly that two years ago we were informed on the floor of this House how innocent a drink of two and three quarter per cent. beer was. It was a perfectly harmless drink, would not do anyone harm, but some of the same ones who told us that on the floor of this House two years ago are now most insistent advocates of the system whereby they are trying to make the people of Pennsylvania believe it would be an absolutely dangerous proposition to sell one-half of one per cent. beer without a license.

We might make a sad picture this morning—we do not like to do it, but we will do it just for a minute. Suppose we go up into Lawrence County this morning and let us imagine that our friend here, Mr. Jordan, I am not imagining that he will, but just suppose that he would vote against this bill and two years from now this gentleman who has always enjoyed such a high standing with the ladies, two years from now he would find about three-fourths of the women of Lawrence County after his scalp. That would be a pathetic thing, and what would happen in Lawrence County is likely to happen in a great many other counties in the State of Pennsylvania. Gentlemen, I ask you this morning by your votes to express your will for this bill, and by so doing buy the retail liquor dealers association a one trip from capitol hill.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House of Representatives, I cannot conceive of anything more consistent than to lend our influence to the enforcement of a law which we have made, or at least that we make the enforcement of the law as easy as possible and as effective as possible. The subject under discussion is not whether or not we believe in prohibition, because prohibition is a fact, because it is a fundamental law of the land and because the legislature of the State of Pennsylvania by an affirmative vote of one hundred and ten members in 1919 helped make it a fundamental law of the land. It is now a question of whether or not we believe in the enforcement of that law or whether or not we, by opposing this bill, will encourage the violation of that law and by encouraging the violation of this law would we not encourage the violation of all laws. Last fall just before election the Vice President of the United States spoke at a large meeting in one of our large cities, and he said that the greatest achievement of any city, of any State or of any nation was the enforcement of the law. Theodore Roosevelt said just a short time before he died that the nations that were the safest from anarchy and the safest from lawlessness were the states and nations that had the greatest respect for law. Thirty-eight states of the Union, since the operation of federal prohibiton, have enacted strict enforcement laws—thirty-eight of them, and if I am correctly informed, every one of those states has enacted into its enforcement laws a search and seizure clause. The search and seizure clause incorporated in the Martin bill which we have before us to-day, is similar to the search and seizure clause in the Pennsylvania Gambling Act; and prosecuting attorneys from different sections of this state tell us that it has been much easier to convict gamblers with that provision written into the law than without it, and that yearly wagonloads of gambling devices are destroyed by order of the courts where the prosecutions are held.

If a man is arrested for selling liquor and is brought into court and the liquor is not brought into court, that defendant can pay his fine, go back to his business of selling liquor and reimburse himself, and business will go on indefinitely. If the liquor is brought into court under the search and seizure clause or provision of this act, the goods will be destroyed by order of the court, and that man will not be so apt to resume the selling of intoxicating liquors. Again, if the defendant is brought into court with the liquor, that is corroborative evidence against the man for violation of the law, otherwise it becomes a question of the credibility of witnesses.

Now, gentlemen, shall we lend our influence to the enforcement of the law? If we do, and if passing this bill which is before us for consideration to-day will clear the way for the violators of law, for the sake of your home and for the sake of my home, for the sake of your state and for the sake of my state, and for the sake of our humanity, let us pass this bill.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, a few days ago I had reached the decision not to speak when this issue was presented to the members of this House. Since that time there are certain things which have been made so prevalent that I feel this morning I would be doing a great injustice to the manhood, womanhood and childhood of this great Commonwealth, to remain silent.

This great issue has been brought to the attention of every individual who has been able to read, through the various presses of this State, until each and all are thoroughly familiar with the great issue that is before us. We are called upon this morning to register, not merely a vote, but our convictions. Whether that conviction has been moulded and sharpened by the sentiments of the districts which we represent, or whether they have been in the deepest recesses of our souls or thought, they, I believe, will be expressed by each and every member of this House. There are many phases of this bill, seemingly to me, which ought to be thoroughly cleared away this morning, in order that each and every individual will be able to give a reasonable answer to those to whom he must return at home after the close of this session. In the first place, this measure was amended to meet many of the critical views of the leaders of the political party of this Commonwealth, and yet with the amendments made and the changes accepted unanimously on the part of the committee, there seems to be one that is still lurking in this bill that has made it impossible for many individuals to cast their vote favorably to this measure. May I say on behalf of the committee that had this bill for their consideration, that they were patient, fair and impartial. They would have readily considered any other measure that would have been brought to their attention, but the bill before us this morning was in the possession of that committee for about three long weeks, and not a single other measure was presented to us that we might reasonably sit down together and think out what would be the best thing for this great Commonwealth. Therefore, this bill is before us.

I contemplate that the speakers who will speak against this bill will hold up to the members of this House the revenues that will be received from licensing the saloons of this Commonwealth. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I am not willing to stultify the deepest recesses of my conscience and crucify the womanhood, manhood and childhood of this great Keystone State upon a cross of gold. I am perfectly willing to be governed by the act which I am permitted to perform as a member of this House and go on a definite record and stand upon that record and build a superstructure of manhood among the people of this great Commonwealth, and I believe that men to-day will out of their deep consciousness of right and duty express themselves and stand as they have never stood before. This is no trivial matter. I believe it is the most serious moment that will confront the membership of this legislative body, and may we, as men, not be politically influenced by the word of a man to compromise our principles or carry forth into the real activities of our legislative duties that which our consciences forbid us doing, I do not hesitate, as I stand upon this floor to-day, to say that I am a Republican and believe in the Republican organization of this State. I want to further say that when I fail to carry out my conscientious conviction, then I am nothing more or less than a piece of putty in a potter's hand, that can be moulded and shapened according to the wishes of one or two. I know that the thought with which the Almighty God has endowed my intellect will cease to function when that time comes when I can be driven about by every whim and dictation of man and when I cannot give to those whom I presumably represent the undivided support and practice of the great Master of Man, the Nazarine.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I rise to oppose this bill, and I shall be very brief in telling you why I am opposing this bill. It proposes for one-half of one per cent. As I understand the true intent of prohibition is to teach the rising generation to abstain from the use of intoxicating drinks. One-half of one per cent. has been termed "non-intoxicating." If any portion of any drink has any portion of alcohol it must be then intoxicating to a certain extent. If we are going to teach our children—my girl and your girl, your boy and my boy—if we are going to permit him or her to enter into a grocery store or a candy shop, or whatever store it may be, and let them imbibe any one-half of one per cent. beverage, what is going to be the result? That child will step out and say, "If this is one-half of one per cent, I wonder what four per cent. tastes like?" Now gentlemen, what is the result? We have conditions in Pittsburgh to the effect that now the parents are preparing certain preparations which under this act would violate the law. If this is the case, a man's home is not his castle, and as I see it the act itself is un-American. We go out into the world and follow the different people that we associate with. The various classes of this country are a cosmopolitan community and we have disfranchised those who have been brought up to something to which they have been accustomed from childhood. I can recall back prior to the passage of what they called the Brooks High License Law. I can see going up the street children rushing, as we used to say, the growler. Gentlemen, do you want such a condition to prevail to-day? That you can send your children to the candy shop or to the grocery store to rush the growler? Under section four of this act we find this:

> If an affidavit be made and filed before any magistrate before whom complaint has been made of the commission of any of the crimes provided against in this act setting forth that affiant has reason to believe and does believe that intoxicating liquor is being manufactured sold offered for sale furnished or possessed at any place named in said affidavit contrary to the provisions of this act the said magistrate shall by his warrant command the officer who is authorized to arrest the person so charged."

Then I will say I may have a political enemy in my district who might, for some reason, believe that I have something stored in my house to which he then makes an affidavit that I have received the same unlawfully, yet at the same time I may have had it there prior to July, 1919, you can readily see how that can crop out into all matters of this kind and the result is that I may be compelled to defend myself in court. Gentlemen, I ask you to vote against this bill because it is un-American and, as an American, I oppose it.

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, you might all look very very serious this morning but I feel that this is not as serious as it might be. It might be worse, because we might be without hope of our land becoming perfectly law abiding as well as our State in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquor. I know not what the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, had in mind when he referred to me as a resident of Lawrence County, of what would happen to me under certain conditions. Gentlemen, I have this to say and I say it guardedly, after deliberate thought; I have never, so far in my life taken into consideration, whether a man or a woman would attempt to take my scalp in my county in regard to retaliating for what I do in public life. I try to do, gentlemen, what I do kindly and fairly. I only hope that the women of Lawrence County, if they do take my scalp, will permit me to possess my heart in perfect freedom as I have always possessed it. Now gentlemen, I am in favor of this bill for two reasons: first, it calls for the repeal of the Brooks law. I am in favor of it, therefore, because I believe in the repeal of the Brooks law, because if the law were to remain on the statute books the granting of licenses would still be with the courts and I have always thought that as being one of the most objectionable features of the Brooks law, placing the granting of licenses into the hands of the courts. Will we, in the future, elect judges on the old liquor basis? I sincerely hope not. I believe that when it comes to the election of a judge only one matter should be taken into consideration, and that is, his judicial fitness. Gentlemen, I am in favor of the repeal of any law that will put it on any other basis. I am going to talk plainly and kindly. I am in favor of the repeal of the Brooks law, because some men with whom I become acquainted quite well are opposed to the repeal of the Brooks law and gentlemen, I want to say why is it that you oppose the repeal of the Brooks law? Why is it that Mason and the rest of the fellows want to pay a high license for the privilege of selling that which this law will permit them to sell all over the State without paying license? Perhaps they have all become philanthropical. You have heard of the need of funds and you have heard it said. "We will provide the fund and we will pay a high license to the Federal treasury so that our school teachers may be paid and so that everybody may be paid." Why, these things are going so far that I am likely, my friends, to introduce a bill to-morrow to license me for the privilege of selling cattle. My friend from Lackawanna will likely introduce a bill putting on him a high license for the privilege of selling coal. Now, on the level, let us put our cards out. You know how to play cards; put them all on the table. You want the high license not because you want to pay it but because you think if you are licensed it will give a little bit more respectability; you feel that it is going to give you a little more protection on the part of the law; you feel that if you get a license you will have something that will enable you to supply a drink that will pay for this license. Is it not true? Put your cards on the table. I travelled in the last year through twenty some states, and travelling through them I tried to keep eyes open and my nose open that I might observe and that I might smell. I know the smell of booze even if I never took a drink of it in my life. Out in Chicago, I went into what was considered the most notorious saloon probably in it, in the exchange building in the stock yard. I said to the only man present, and there used to be a multitude, "how's business," and he said, "No business." I said "How about drinking less than one half of one per cent.?" he said, "that is slop, we won't drink that stuff, no sale, no call for it." I went over to the transit house, went into a great bar there and there was just one man there selling sandwiches. I said, "How about less than one half of one per cent." "Nobody wants the stuff." I went into a hotel in Harrisburg about a year ago to get a sandwich, I said "How is business." "Nobody wants this stuff, they won't buy it. There is no kick in it." But evidently they got to buying stuff a little kickier. I was in a place not very long ago, not more that fifty miles from here and my nose said, "you are selling better than one half of one per cent.,

the old smell is there." Now right on the level you are opposed to this because you think and know, or rather because you thing it is going to give you greater respectability for the sale of that stuff. Now isn't that true, that you think it will give you more respectability and a certain degree of protection. Let me say this to the members of this House and those present, men, I have no feeling on this subject, no venom in my soul. I am speaking only my convictions. Whether this bill is passed or another bill is passed there is one thing absolutely certain and that is that the Constitution of the United States, by the old Keystone State will be obeyed and observed. When I say that I speak for men who have been in the wholesale liquor business, some of them good friends of mine. It is not a question of wet or dry. A representative said to me this morning, I intend to vote wet. Gentlemen, that day is past and gone, it is a day of law enforcement, that is the issue, whether this bill is passed or another bill for the men of this old State will not stand for lawlessness. We are not Russia. It matters not what our taste formerly may have been. A few years ago Jackson, the Attorney General of Kansas, was elected on a liberal platform. He said "I have had liberal tendencies and this does not appeal to me, but I took my oath that I would enforce the laws and I will," and Jackson made Kansas absolutely dry. He said this, "I feel that the surest way for my wet friends to get wet back again is in the enforcement of the law. If enforcement of the law makes things too blue why you will repeal them. To my liquor friends let me say your great blunder has been by not obeying the law. That is what put you in the box you are in to-day, and if you have any hope of getting anything stronger, it will be by coming up and saying open and above board, we will enforce the law of the land; then if things become too blue and the majority of the people of the United States vote that it is too blue, I will live and obey the law for the majority in this country will rule and must rule. The men will not stand for it. Last year at San Francisco Edwards and his followers were saying "New Jersey, eighteen votes for Cox, wet. Ballot after ballot was eighteen votes for Cox and wet and he went back home and to-day New Jersey is enacting a law by all means more stringent than the one that is proposed this morning. They ratify the eighteenth amendment and to-day Edwards is standing up against the Atlantic Ocean and saying "my kingdom, my kingdom for a drink of water." New York practically followed the same example and New York to-day is enacting a law as stringent as the one we have before us for the enforcement of the law. The American people will not stand for it.

Then another element has come in, the women. Fellows, I take the women into consideration. Do you know this, gentlemen, the women are not likely to have a bit of political sense. The trouble with the women I believe, is this, that they won't stay put. We cannot organize them. I am intimately acquainted with about three or four women, my mother, two sisters and my sister-in-law. My mother used to take me up and say "Little curly headed darling." I said "I have got her now. She is organized," and not more than half an hour after that very woman, for some foolish reason, would make me so warm by laying her hands upon me, that I felt as if I had been sitting on the kitchen stove. The trouble with my mother was that she could not stay organized. The trouble with women is just this, they seem to be just silly enough to do the right thing at any time. We are going to enforce the law whether this bill goes through or any other goes through. The man who stands up and tells me that he wont obey the law gets my Scotch and Irish and Dutch blood all mixed up and I feel like getting into a little fight, a little fuss, and I need a little sugar. I ate two lumps of sugar this morning, so that I would be sweet. Two years ago I made a talk on this subject, and I hoped that I would never have to do it again. I hate this fellows, actually I hate it. I hate to have to get up and bat a fellow like Stadtlander there. You are a good fellow part of the time. I hate it and I had hoped that the thing was out eternally and that it would never come up again. So let us use just a little horse sense this morning. Let us vote this thing through. Let us get rid of it for this session. The Governor said he would sign it. Let us get rid of it and let us get down to business, the business that is before us. I had hoped that the thing would never come up to bother us again, again and again. Let us just exercise good horse sense for the law is that liquor is outlawed and that law will be obeyed. Those old faces up there would become voiceful and say "Not worthy descendants of Penn; not worthy followers of the old music of the cracked bell." I love the old State and when I went through twenty and only saw a bar, a saloon, in one state, until I came back to Pennsylvania, I said, "I do hope the time will soon come when coming back to the State I love more than any other, I won't see the word 'bar,' I won't see the word 'saloon.' " Boys, let us put this over.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I too preached at the same funeral at which Mr. Jordan spoke two years ago, and I see that he agrees with me when he took the floor and pointed out that the country is still wet. We talk about enforcing the law. I, too, have traveled over more than twenty states, practically all of the states that have enforcement laws, but when I got a scent that there was something there with over one per cent., I went a little further than Mr. Jordan, and I tasted it, and I found out to my disappointment that my smell was wrong. I am opposed to the passage of this bill for several reasons. I received a telegram last night where some of my very, very dear friends were on trial in West Virginia. I have been for years in the hills of Kentucky and West Virginia where they make the real moonshine, and I want to say to you that those of you who have read of the feuds in West Virginia that it is not an uncommon thing to find a preacher who carries a pistol, a bottle of liquor and a Bible. I do not say this is done in Pennsylvania, and I trust it will not be. In this act we have section five, which permits and sheriff, constable or officer, to go into your home and search. I look upon this from a different angle than some of the others, because I have been through many an industrial battle and I know of the advantages taken by men who have opposed the labor movement, I know of the advantages that they have taken to search the homes, and they stretch their authority for the purpose of destroying those whom they were after. A few weeks ago you may have read of a person who was a detective for the Baldwin-Felts Agency—I am only bringing this up as an illustration. He took the stand against the sixteen men in Williamson and swore there that those men had declared to him that they had killed the detective. They told the jury that, every one of them said that, but this man was a paid agent who sneaks into our home, and then last week when he was recalled to the stand, the attorney said to him, "Mr. Lively, were you ever in Colorado?" He said, "Yes." "Give us the name of the man you murdered in Wilsonburg," and he did. I am only showing to you how detective agencies employ the very lowest and most degraded men that can be secured to get evidence in the labor movement. Under this act they will employ that very kind of article to search my home and your home, not for the purpose of discovering the liquor, perhaps, but for getting something on the individuals that they are after.

My friend, Mr. Stadtlander, I think, outlined the objections as well as they could be outlined when he said that by passing this act you would make every grocery store and every candy shop a training station for the boys and girls to learn to drink. I know this, that in the states of West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, they do sell near-beer in all of the stores, drug stores, candy stores an dother shops. Show me a state in the Union where you find more people drunk than you do in West Virginia and Kentucky. You cannot show me. Show me a state or two states in the Union where there are more murders committed than in the State of West Virginia and in the state of Kentucky. Two years ago it was said upon the floor of this House and the argument presented by the dry forces was that if we had a dry state our jails would be emptied. We have more men in jail today and you have more crimes being committed today than ever in the history of America. Let me say to you that in the very states where they say the jails are empty, that murder after murder has been committed and nobody is in jail even for murder. Go into Kentucky, if you please; go into West Virginia, if you please, and if you murder a man you can get out on five hundred dollars bail. That is surprising to some of you. Well, if that be true, if you can murder a man and get out on bail in those states, it is no wonder that the fellow who takes a little nip never gets in jail. That is one of the reasons why your jails are empty in the very, very dry states.

There has been a lot said here today about the women, and I think everybody is playing to the galleries for the woman vote. I think I stood here two years ago and voted just as much for the women as anybody else in this House, and I believe they should have the vote, but I do not believe that we should at all times take the floor and be harping about the woman votes, and playing to the galleries. I do not intend to play to the gallery. I have as good a mother as ever God put breath into, and I will say to you that she does not object to me taking a little drink. I have always come home in a respectable condition; I have always been accustomed to it. The coal miners of this country have been accustomed to it. How many men have gone to their graves from drinking in the store, if you please, wood alcohol. Let me say to you, my friends, that I know this: in traveling on passenger trains you will always find somebody with a little flask. You will always find that. The place to get a drink today,—where the business man used to go out and take a fellow into some place where he could talk business, that is done away with, but the place to get a drink today is to go into a man's office and talk business with him, and you will get it. You have transferred the liquor bottle from the saloon to the desk of the business man.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to you that a law that has made violators of the law is not a fit law to remain on the statute books. Seventy-five per cent. of the men in America today, I believe, are violating that law, even if they do not break it themselves. A good business man will assist in breaking it, and I know some of them who, while they do not break the law themselves, they always carry a drink for the fellow with whom they want to do business. They do that. You are pretty good businessmen yourselves, and the gentleman from Lawrence is a pretty good businessman himself who plays the game, and when you went into a saloon you did it from that point of view, and we know that our friend would not have gone into the saloon unless he had some purpose and the purpose of it all was to do some sort of business when he went into the saloon. Friends, I do not wish to antagonize anybody, but I feel under this act that a stretch of authority can be used at any time and even those who are in the labor movement the hand of the law with the stretch of authority can grip them up on any pretense.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, the reason why I ask you to support the bill we have before us is that the bill we have at this time is to settle this matter for good and all. Every man in Pennsylvania ought to be strong for this bill and especially that class of men whom the gentleman from Lackawanna represents, the laboring man. Surely they are the class who have to pay the greatest price and who ought to be strong for the support of the measure. Two years ago when we had the prohibition bill before the House and that measure was carried we thought that was the end of the saloon in Pennsylvania. As the gentleman from Lawrence has said, today these men have been paying a big price in order to maintain their institutions with the hope of this business coming up again, and that in Pennsylvania they may again be permitted to sell liquor, and I speak with authority when I say that it is an impossibility for this State to again become wet. Then, again, do you realize the fact that the present Congress, at this time, is drier than any Congress ever elected in the United States? Somehow or another our friends seem to have hope that at some time they may be able to again sell booze, but that time has gone forever. We have national prohibition in this country and every man who has that kind of a hope may as well dismiss it today. The new Congress in session at present is seventy per cent. dry. You cannot get any modification of the Volstead Act in Washington in the next two years. You gentlemen of Pennsylvania, and I am talking as a Republican, know that the last election was carried by the Republican organization, and we are in the majority and we shall be answerable as a Republican organization to our nation from Pennsylvania. Many of us folks understand that when we elect a judge we want to elect him on his merits, and that he will be so elected, and we know that he ought to be a man learned in the law. We will have a candidate for Governor next year, and unless we settle this question we will have the same old wet and dry fight over again, and the Republican organization will be responsible. You cannot blame it on our Democratic friends; they are in a hopeless minority. The Republicans are in authority and therefore the members of this House are responsible for our action. I want to say to you, let us get this wet and dry fight out of the road. Everybody is tired of it; we are all tired of it. We do not want to fight on this issue. Let us pass this measure today and make it mean something and then we will have results in Pennsylvania that will be worth while. Pennsylvania is drier today than it has ever been in its history. Congress is dry by a large majority. We elected four candidates for Congressmen at large; one was dry and three were wet, and the dry man received the largest majority of votes in Pennsylvania. We elected Mr. Walters Congressman-at-Large in spite of the opposition of the liquor interests, who made every effort to defeat him. In the present Congress we have twenty-one Congressmen in this State who are dry, and those who were wet were defeated and some of you fellows may never come back again if you oppose this bill today. I am making no threat. I am speaking facts. This issue will never die until it is settled right: it has not died in the past and it will never die until it is settled, and the question before this House through this measure is the proper enforcement of our Constitution. Unless we vote a measure that will do that at this session, we will fail in our duty. There was talk all over the country about taking booze away from the soldier boys and the argument was "Wait until they come back; we will show you what will be done." Our poor soldier boys have been blamed for a good many things, but they are not responsible. In one section in Ohio where the question of enforcing the act was brought before the people, it was carried by two hundred and fifty thousand majority. I will ask you to pass this act; it is time to settle this matter and to settle it right, and do away forever with this question of wet and dry in Pennsylvania.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I was very, very much impressed with all that has been said and I agree with my colleague from Lawrence, that there was no need for any seriousness this morning. I enjoyed the golden words that flowed from his tongue. Some may attribute this sweetness to the sugar which it had. I shall be brief this morning and I hope many of you will not discover this morning that my colleague and I had a little lemon sour (referring to Representative Franklin). I was also impressed with the address by the gentleman from Allegheny, the sponsor of the bill. I am a student of nature and I love natural history. Therefore, I was impressed as he told the beautiful little story of the two fleas floating down the river on the twig from a peach tree. I just pictured in my mind those two little fleas, and I will draw an analogy between those two fleas on a peach twig and its bearing on the nation at large. If in that analogy I may compare the United States with that brother of the canine family, then I would draw for him the picture of two little fleas by referring to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, because I know of nothing which has given this country as much mental distress as those two pests have given. One flea by itself might do no particular harm. The Eighteenth Amendment, I believe, is a good thing, and being a part of the law must be enforced. When I listened to the gentleman from Lawrence this morning there came to my mind the words of that beautiful hymn, "By the River Jordan." Which runs something like this: "I stand on the bank of the river and my eyes gaze on the land of Canaan." I am not familiar with the rest of the words, but I have listened to him this morning and my mind went back to the sessions here when we voted on local option. Just as soon as local option was taken up, those who voted on the question made their claims, and my mind went back to those who had voted for and to those who had voted against. I am like brother Jordan, a teetotaler. Before the Eighteenth Amendment I was an absolute teetotaler. Since the Eighteenth Amendment the heighth of hospitality has been whenever one visits another's house, he must take his guests to the top floor or to the cellar to show him his collection. Ah! if he be the host of hosts he will perhaps allow his guests to sample his treasures. I confess that I have been doing more visiting since the amendment than ever before. Now, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, whether I discovered too late what I had missed before, or whether I missed nothing at all, the fact remains that the Eighteenth Amendment is part of the fundamental law of these United States and there is no man in the House who would go farther and make more sacrifices to uphold the law of our country than would I. The Eighteenth Amendment is just as much a part of our fundamental law as any one of the other amendments, and I agree with Brother Catlin. I agree with every speaker that has been here today that, irrespective of the fact that some may think that the Eighteenth Amendment was not adopted by proper methods, irrespective of the fact that some may think that it is fair and some unfair, some right and some wrong, the Eighteenth Amendment is a law and it must be enforced, and I will not tolerate any contempt for the law of our land by anyone. Just so long as the Eighteenth Amendment is the law I will not countenance any contempt of that law by anyone, be he large or be he small, the law is here and it must be enforced. The Martin Bill, as most other bills, is named after its sponsor, but if this bill was to be named after something that is particularly significant in the character of the bill, then I would say that this bill should be termed "A Confession of the Volstead Act's Failure," because, notwithstanding the fact that the Eighteenth Amendment is a law, and that this body voted for its enactment, we cannot deny the fact that the Volstead Act is a failure. The country is now too wet for the drys and too dry for the wets. We cannot find a common level. Why is the Volstead Act a failure? I think the great, great, great majority of Americans are glad that we have the Eighteenth Amendment, but the prohibitionists, after getting through the Eighteenth Amendment, the good thinking, clear thinking people felt that they are treating prohibition not as an economic measure, but as a moral issue, and just as soon as the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted, they immediately framed a criminal code, they treat the American public, instead of as law-abiding citizens, and there is no country that possesses citizens of such sterling character, they set the American public up against the machinery of the government as a criminal class and try to stifle their natural instincts and their desires. As Brother Jordan has said, the best way to defeat the purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment is to try to shackle on the people a criminal code. I like the Eighteenth Amendment and I want to see it carried out in the spirit in which great attempts of this kind should be carried out. We must view this measure without fear or favor. We must not be stampeded by petitions, letters, circulars or threats. If we are to vote here for the purpose of coming back two years from now, many of us now would vote against our convictions. I know that Brother Jordan is not a bit worried. His scalp is safe. The women not only of Lawrence County, but of other counties, have set their cap on that noble scalp for years and years, and it is still here with us, good old bachelor Jordan. Whether he votes dry or whether he should vote in any other way which is against his conscience, he will be back. It would be a loss to the House and the Commonwealth if he did not come back. Many of us perhaps may be singing our swan song because we vote in accordance with our conscience.

I shall not say anything with reference to search and seizure or to any of the many other provisions of this act. I shall confine myself particularly to the repeal of the Brooks High License Law. I hold no brief for the saloonkeepers, nor do I say that they are the worst people in the world. I have met men of both classes, men who are for and men who are against, and as a general rule I saw nothing in one which was a stranger in the other. Mention has been made here to the lobbyists. I have never heard of a lobby which went so far as did a minister of the gospel, who said to a member of this House, the sponsor of the equal rights bills, that if he did not vote for the Martin Bill that the equal rights bill would be defeated, but that is what was said by a member of the cloth, who should teach the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man and equal rights of all to my colleague, Mr. Asbury, "If you do not vote for the Martin Bill, then the equal rights bill will be defeated." Gentlemen, prohibition has never had a firmer or a stronger friend than the Executive of this Commonwealth, Governor Sproul. He gave his word and he carried out his word that the last session of the Legislature would adopt the Eighteenth Amendment, and it did. What happened? Governor Sproul, thinking squarely, fairly and honestly in his measure to the Legislature, said that he was in favor of the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, but he said it cannot be done by the repeal of the Brooks High License Law. I know there is now waiting on this side of the Capitol a bill which I assume is and which I assume will give Pennsylvania a rank with the foremost states. I read yesterday a report of the proceedings of the session of 1887, when the Brooks High License Law was adopted, and I there saw the evils which brought about its enactment. In every corner and every grocery store and every drug store and candy store liquor was sold, and so they enacted the Brooks High License Law because of the evils that existed before its enactment, and those very evils will exist should the Brooks High License Law be repealed. Those in favor of the Martin Bill say show to us some reason why it should not be repealed. Now let us assume that what they have said as to the purposes which are behind the men who are against this bill are true. Let us assume that they do want a cloak of respectability. What has been said or what has been shown which will prove that if the Brooks Law is repealed tomorrow that every saloonkeeper in this State will not continue to run his saloon. The only difference being that he pays no license. Should the Brooks Law be repealed tomorrow not only every saloon that is now open will continue to do business, but thousands of others will do the same thing. Why, in the year following the Brooks High License Law, forty-six hundred saloons were closed in Philadelphia, and my authority for that statement is a book called "Pennsylvania and John Barleycorn," written by a confirmed prohibitionist, and sent to me through the mail. Should the Brooks Law be repealed forty-six hundred or perhaps more new saloons will be thrown open in Philadelphia. Now, Doctor Davis would not stultify himself, and would not permit the orphan asylums or the hospitals or the schools or the teachers to share in the money,—the five or six millions of dollars,—which comes into the State coffers from the liquor business. I cannot carry my conscience to that extent. I cannot see the wisdom of letting a man carry on that which is considered an evil, without his paying therefor, because, forsooth, your conscience would not permit you to take that money upon which the government of the United States has lived for many years, and upon which our own Commonwealth has existed for many years. Now, does the Brooks Law contain anything that the Volstead act does not? I fail to see. Think of the many advantages we have in the Brooks Law. First of all, it permits the opening of saloons only at certain hours; they cannot be open on Sunday, they cannot be open on election day; minors are not permitted to enter; women cannot work there; liquor cannot be sold in a grocery store, it cannot be sold in any other place. Why, then, do we have those provisions in the present law? Because before its enactment all those evils existed, and for that reason Governor Pattison and the Legislature of 1887 passed the law. I fail to see anything that can be gained by repealing the present law. I might be inclined to vote for the search and seizure and for the many other provisions, but unless I can be shown some reason for throwing away these millions of dollars and opening up innumerable saloons without registering any guaranty of good faith, then I must vote against this bill. The country is displeased with the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment. They are law-abiding citizens and wish to see the amendment carried into effect.

We come now to the question of concurrent power! of concurrent power! of concurrent power! What is concurrent power? More men are dabbling with that question today than any other question that ever confronted them. The Supreme Court of the United States has declared that concurrent power means nothing at all, that Congress is supreme, and that no state can do anything that would in any way change an enactment of Congress. If I were asked today what concurrent power means in this particular regard, I would say that when Congress bites off more than it can swallow, that the state must lend its teeth and digestive system to save the country's digesion. That is as far as I have been able to go. There are two forces in this country, both law-abiding, both wishing to put the Eighteenth Amendment on its feet. All are in favor, I would say, of the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and if a man does not believe in the enforcement of that act, then America is no place for him.

Men, I have yet failed to hear one reason why the Brooks High License Law should be repealed. We have been asked to show rasons why it should not be, and I have tried to give them in the best way I can. I am sure this bill will be defeated, and when it is, we will get that which I hope will be a sensible measure from His Excellency, the Governor, and then we can take up the question of search and seizure after this bill has been defeated.

We should not throw the door open to the speak-easies, because if we cannot regulate the forty-five hundred saloons of the Commonwealth, if that has been a failure, then I say we cannot regulate forty-five thousand. We want to put something into the treasury, we want to conserve the youth of the country and we want to do that which is right, and for that reason let us defeat this bill and take up a measure which is safe, sane and sound.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs. Connor, Heffernan, Baldi, Alexander, Steedle, McCaig, Stadtlander, Golder, Glass, Sowers, Phillips, Rieder, Hayes, Dithrich, Dilsheimer, Drinkhouse, McCarthy, McOwen, Hagerty, McCann and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I call for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO 480.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I heartily favor the enforcement of all law and the maintenance of order, and will at all times support an enforcement measure standing alone.

But I am of the opinion that it is a mistake at this time to repeal the Brooks High License Act and to permit malt liquor to be sold without regulation or control by any person to any person at any time and at any place. For this reason I vote against this bill.

Mr. CHAPLIN. Mr. Speaker, I vote "aye" on this bill. My reasons for so doing are as follows:

First—Licenses cannot pay enormous tax and fees required and still keep within the law as now enforced. With the Volstead Act enforced, the granting of license under the Brooks Law, opens the door to infractions of the law which did not heretofore exist. It tends to make criminals out of men who want to be honest. The liquor question has been revolutionized. The debris must be cleared away to give the people an opportunity to place on the statute books such laws, as will under the changed conditions accord with the will of the people. When this is done, then law and order will again prevail. My most solemn reason is I have taken the following oath.

I do solemenly swear (or affirm) that I will support, obey and defend the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the Commonwealth.

Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, I desire to explain, as briefly as possible, the purpose of the bill before the House.

Its purpose is to give to every Police Department in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, a very vital and effective measure of offense as well as defence for protection of the law-abiding citizens of the Commonwealth. To protect, as far as is humanly possible, the inalienable right of every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to traverse its streets and highways, on missions that are peaceful, lawful and just, and to safeguard for them the enjoyment of the free and unmolested use of all these thoroughfares, which are costing the Commonwealth, its counties, and various municipalities, hundreds of millions of dollars for construction and maintenance.

Our citizens have been very patient. They have tamely submitted to outrage and thuggery at the hands of raiders and invaders from neighboring Commonwealths, and from desperadoes from within the confines of our own Commonwealth. The time has arrived to cry a half to this delirium of crime.

The entire press of the State of Pennsylvania, has been practically unanimous for some measure of relief from this intolerable condition, and this act is designed for this very purpose of relief.

The present statute allows free and indiscriminate purchase and sale of deadly weapons, to be concealed on the person, but—but the possession or carrying of such deadly weapons on the person, is a misdemeanor.

The punishment, on conviction, is usually a small fine or a very short term of imprisonment.

As a means of protection against the reign of terror which has spread all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the present statute has been, and is, a farce.

The bill before the House, makes a felony of the crime of carrying concealed deadly weapons on the person, or in any conveyance, without a permit, issued by certain designated officers, in each and every community.

A record of each sale must be kept by the dealer who sells at retail with the name and address of the purshaser, the date of purchase, the kind, the manufacturer's name, and number of the revolver or pistol.

Such records shall, at all reasonable times, be open to the inspection of any police officer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or of any or its municipal divisions.

On conviction, for violation of this act, the penalty shall be imprisonment for not less than one year, or more than three years, and a fine of not less than $500.00, or more than $1,000.00.

Mark you gentlemen, the provisions of this act do not prohibit the possession of a revolver or pistol by any householder, storekeeper, merchant or banker, in his home or place of business, nor the carrying of such weapons by any messenger of banking institutions or express companies, or by watchmen or police, in this Commonwealth.

There has been a wave of crime that has spread all over the United States, and just within the past few weeks in the State of Arkansas the Senate there has passed an act unanimously providing capital punishment for bank robbery. The bill put bank robbery on a penalty with murder in that it give juries the right to fix either life imprisonment or electrocution as a punishment.

Our sister commonwealth, the State of Delaware, within the past few weeks passed an act in the Senate unanimously making the penalty for highway robbery forty lashes on the bare back, not less than twenty years imprisonment and a fine of $500. The vote on the measure was unanimous. The time has come when we must put teeth into some law and stop this terror of crime and debauchery.

Just a few minutes more of your time while I read a few letters from certain officers of the law, who may fairly and rightly be termed technical experts on the subject. Also a letter from Fred W. Tepel, President of the Pennsylvania Chief of Police Association of Williamsport, Pa., and from the Chief of Police, Joseph W. Ibach, of Harrisburg, Pa., and one from Chief of Police L. S. Pitcher, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

I also have a letter from Chief Souder of the detective force of the city of Philadelphia who is here to-day in the interest of this bill. I would like to read also a letter from the Director of Public Safety of the City of Pittsburgh, Robert J. Alderdice:

Mr. Joseph H. Schwartz.
Member of the House of Representatives.
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I have in my possession a copy of Bill No. 28, session of 1921 of the House of Representatives which was introduced by you on January 24th, 1921 and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special, the same being an act relating to deadly weapons and explosives, making it a felony to possess or carry the same under certain conditions, etc., etc.

I have carefully read this act and write you this personal letter asking that you use your best efforts to have the same become a law on the statute books of the State of Pennsylvania. This act meets with my hearty approval and I am strongly impressed with the fact that it should become a law. If, when this bill is considered by the Committee on Judiciary Special, it is your judgment that I can be of any assistance by appearing before the committee I will be glad to do so. I can produce evidence to the committee that, one week before your bill was introduced, there were 105 revolvers takn out of pawn shops in the city of Pittsburgh by people whose evident intentions were to use the same for noldup and robbery purposes. The laws of Pennsylvania should be so strong as to eliminate the possibility of a recurrence of this kind and some such regulations as are contemplated by your act should be put in force and effect throughout the entire State of Pennsylvania. Personally I will ask the entire Allegheny County delegation in both the Senate and House to support your bill and will use my utmost endeavors for its passage. If there is anything which you can suggest that I can do to assist in the passage of this act kindly advise me and I will be very glad to help as far as possible.

Yours very truly,
R. J. ALDERDICE,
Director.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I dislike to say anything this time to offset the applause that has fallen so casantly on ears of the gentleman from Luzerne, but I wish to say that about a week ago during my absence a bill which I had introduced and which was somewhat similar in its provisions was on the calendar and that the gentleman from Luzerne without saying anything to me in regard to it, or speaking to the gentleman whom I had asked to look after the bill, had it recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special. The bill had been referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, and had been reported from that committee. The gentleman from Luzerne, in my absence, had the bill recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special, as he said, "For the purpose of amendment and for the purpose of a hearing." Upon my return when I asked him why he had taken such an unfair advantage of my absence he said, "Well, my bill was introduced before yours and when you introduced your bill it was right out on the calendar at once and I didn't think it was fair so I had it sent back." Now, this was a bill that was harmless in its provisions, and I would have no objection to any other bill that may be preferred, but it seems to me that it should be receiving the same consideration from the members of the House. It is a matter of very serious importance. There are some features of the bill that are objectionable. I want you gentlemen to know that I have no particular pride in this legislation because I introduced this bill and the only thing that I ask now is that this bill be sent back to the Judiciary Special Committee for the purpose of a hearing and I ask that it be referred to that committee where we can sit down in committee and compare the two bills and if they decide which one they want to report to the House it will be agreeable to me, although I reserve the right to oppose it when it appears on the calendar. Therefore, I ask that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to my friend, the representative from Allegheny, whom I liked very much, who is a very handsome gentleman, and who is a very courteous gentleman, that there were three similar and identical bills to his in the hands of the Judiciary Special Committee which had been pickled, "Heinzed." These bills were in the hands of the committee for two months, and this bill of Mr. Dithrich's, No. 685, should have been referred to the same committee with its father, its grandfather and its great grandfather. It was not done unfortunately, and I would not like to show the slighest discourtesy to my colleague Mr. Dithrich, for I like him very much but unfortunately it came up for second reading, and I had no other avenue open to me. I searched for him but he was not here, he had gone home so that with that apology, I say to Mr. Dithrich, that I regret the circumstances very, very much, but it was unavoidable.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, in the light of the explanation by the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Swartz, I desire to withdraw my motion to recommit.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from page 11 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed. House Bill No. 239, file folio No. 1281.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Zook.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 239, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and seventy-two) entitled "An act to provide for the protection and preservation of game game-quadrupeds and game-birds and song and insectivorous and other wild birds and prescribing penalties for violation of its several provisions"

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Game for the purpose of a hearing. My reason for it, if it is permitted at this time, is this: I went to the sponsor of this bill and requested that the bill be referred to the committee for a hearing for the western end of the State. The gentleman said that he would place it on the postponed calendar, in other words, he politely refused, stating he would place the bill on the postponed calendar instead. Therefore I ask that the members of this House, will stand by me on this question to refer this bill to the Committee on Game.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ZOOK. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I cannot consider it very courteous on the part of my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, to make this motion. A week ago he came to me and asked me to have the bill recommitted to the committee on Game for the purpose of a hearing. I told him that the bill had been in committee approximately five weeks and there had been no request for a hearing. The newspapers had stated in their columns that this bill was in committee. I was invited before the committee to explain the bill and I did so. They reported the bill out, and there never was a request for a hearing. I agreed to place it on the postponed calender to give them time to oppose the bill if they cared to do so. Gentlemen I hope you will not sustain the motion of Mr. Stadtlander.

The SPEAKER. It is the desire of the mover of this motion to recommit the bill for the purpose of amendment or a hearing?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of a hearing, and if necessary, amendment.

The SPEAKER. Probably the better course then would be to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

On the question, recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 239, file folio No. 1281 passed on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the nays appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, and ninety-two gentlemen voting in the affirmative, and seventy-one in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion to recommit?

It was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO 634.

Mr. PHILIP H. DEWEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 634, file folio 1943, entitled:

An Act fixing the salaries of the directors of the poor of county poor districts in counties of the fourth class was defeated on final passage on March 16th, be reconsidered.

Mr. KRAUSE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SCHAEFFER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. DITHRICH asked and received unanimous consent to call up from page 12 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage, House Bill No. 818, file folio 2081.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 818, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to damages for injuries producing death" as amended by extending the provisions thereof to brothers and sisters

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to damages for injuries producing death" which as amended by the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and seventy-eight) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An act relating to damages for injuries producing death' approved the twenty-sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five so as to provide that certain surviving relatives of the deceased may recover damages whether such surviving relatives be citizens of this Commonwealth or not" reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the persons entitled to recover damages for any injuries causing death shall be the husband widow children or parents of the deceased and no other relatives and that such husband widow children or parents of the deceased shall be entitled to recover whether he she or they be citizens or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or citizens or residents of any other state or place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States or of any foreign country or subjects of any foreign potentate and the sum recovered shall go to them in the proportion they would take his or her personal estate in case of intestacy and that without liability to creditors under the laws of this Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the persons entitled to recover damages for any injuries causing death shall be the husband widow children parents or brothers and sisters of the deceased and to other relatives and that such husband widow children parents or brothers and sisters of the deceased shall be entitled to recover whether he she or they be citizens or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or citizens or residents of any other state or place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States or of any foreign country or subject of any foreign potentate and the sum recovered shall go to them in the proportion they would take his or her personal estate in case of intestacy and that without liability to creditors under the laws of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 3, line 21, by striking out "to" and inserting in lieu thereof "no."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 400, entitled:

An Act prohibiting advertisements of cures or medicines relating to venereal diseases and certain sexual disorders and prescribing the penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALBERT MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, ask uninimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 4, page 2, line 24, by striking out the following: "other orders or parts of orders" and inserting in lieu thereof "acts or parts of acts."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 821, entitled:

An Act to amend sections three, four and eleven of an act approved the twentieth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 566), entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities, and all county or other public employes, if any, paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof, and out of the treasury of said cities; and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 2, page 5, lines 10 and 11, by striking out the "forming" the word "the."

Amend section 2, page 5, lines 10 and 11, by striking out the following: "by the said city or other public employment."

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 935 (Senate Bill No. 449), entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the third class to elect an assistant city solicitor whose term of office shall be four years and whose compensation shall be fixed by ordinance

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call attention as a representative of a third class city, that this bill is entirely uncalled for, that there is no necessity for an assistant city solicitor. I represent one of the largest third class cities in the State, or we are among the largest, and our city solicitor has plenty of time to carry on his law practice, besides attending to the duties of the city solicitor. I would be very much pleased to have this bill defeated, and I hope you will vote against it.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, this bill applies to cities of the third class and gives them the right to elect an assistant city solicitor in case they need him. No city is obliged to do so if it is opposed to electing a city solicitor.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 893 (Senate Bill No. 376), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act, approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws, four hundred and seventeen), entitled: "An act for the safety of persons from fire or panic in certain buildings, not in cities of the first and second classes, by providing proper exits, fire-escapes, fire-extinguishers, and other preventives of fire; by vesting jurisdiction for the enforcement of this act in the Department of Factory Inspection; and by providing proper penalties for any violation of the same," as amended

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CRUM. Mr. Speaker, I wish to know whether there is someone in the House who can explain the purpose of this bill.

The SPEAKER. This is a Senate bill.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I have been informed that this bill was asked for by the Attorney General's office for one of the Departments of the State. All that this bill provides is that the Department of Factory Inspection shall have discretionary power in deciding whether three-story buildings should be equipped with fire sprinklers and other equipment. There is nothing new in the bill. It only gives discretionary powers.

Section 10 This act shall become effective ninety days after its passage

Section 11 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. Having been approached quite a number of times concerning this bill I find it necessary to give a bit of information upon it. The purpose of this bill is to guard against the health of the youth of Pennsylvania. I wish to say that within the last six months there has been a substitute food or milk, as we term it, or a compound as it may be called, from without the State largely shipped into this State and consequently using Pennsylvania as a dumping-ground. I wish to state, according to the statistics, during 1920 possibly 10,000 cans of this substitute milk has entered Philadelphia. Now, gentlemen, this substitute milk as they term it is a kind of milk produced after the butter fat has been taken out of pure milk and in order to comply with the Federal law they replace it by a fat taken from cottonseed or cocoanut oil or a vegetable fat and they place these ingredients into the skim milk and put it on the market by placing it along side of the condensed milk or whole milk and the people purchase it without knowing the difference and they don't really find this vast difference in the milk, but men who have made it a study have found that the nutrition of these two foods vary so much that it is high time that we attempt to stop this kind of work. I believe there is one establishment or manufactory in the State of Pennsylvania —just a small one located at Pittsburgh where they are making what they call "Corallin". This substitute food is called "Hebe Corallin, Zeno" or a half dozen other names. This substitute is placed side by side on the shelves of the merchants in the various cities of this State and is there sold at from one to three cents cheaper a quart than the whole or condensed pure cow milk. In visiting sixty stores in southern Philadelphia we found it in forty of them. In visiting the better sections of Philadelphia we have found none of it, for the reason that the better class of people will not buy it; but the people who are not so well educated and who are after the saving of dollars and cents will adhere to this cheaper article. We not only find it in Philadelphia, but in Scranton, Schuylkill, Pittsburgh and in possibly a dozen of the different cities of this State. In fact, there has been carloads of this stuff dumped into this State of ours. I wish to state what Dr. McCollum, Professor of Chemical Hygiene of the School of Hygiene and Public Health, of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland, has to say:

> This practice of substituting vegetable fats for butter fat in milk has become a widespread evil within recent years, and has far-reaching consequences. The practice should be combatted by every possible means because of the inferiority of such vegetable fats, from the nutritive standpoint, to butter fat.
> Any legislation permitting the substitution of vegetable fats for milk fats in any human food should be vigorously contested and opposed by everyone interested in human welfare.

Another feature is this: Here is a company that makes whole milk which is put upon the shelves of our stores called "Golden Key." The people that are making this fake milk, the substitute milk compound, and what do they do? They select a similar name so as to catch the buyer and their name is "Silver Key." (Showing labels) These are stamped on their cans and they so closely resemble or are so closely allied to the "Golden Key" that the purchaser unless her eyes are open will be caught. They advertise their product in this way.

They call it Hebe Milk. Their large cans they mark at eleven and eleven and one-half cents. Now the standard brand is from twelve to fourteen cents. In a number of the stores that we have visited in Philadelphia, in asking the merchants concerning this milk or food, this is what they told a party that was there. "It takes the place of condensed milk." Another merchant says, "It takes the place of condensed milk, just as good and cheaper," Another merchant says "Just as good as any other brand of condensed milk and cheaper." Here is what another one says "Cheap and just as good and any other condensed milk." Another one says "Very good. Good as any other condensed milk." That is the plea of the merchants. Some of them say it is fit for babies.

Let me say to the gentlemen who are for and against this bill, the Department of Agriculture is behind this bill, the Department of Health is behind this bill, every dairyman in this State is behind this bill and every consumer who knows what he is talking about is behind this bill. The only persons who are opposed to it and kicking just a bit are the small manufacturer in Pittsburgh and one in Philadelphia, who have small dairies and want to sell skimmed milk. Then there is another class that is opposed to this bill, and that is a few merchants. I know that a number of members of this House have received telegrams within the last forty-eight hours asking them to defeat this bill. Gentlemen I venture to say that any merchant that will send a telegram to a member of the House of Representatives to stop a measure so humane as this, I would not trust him sufficiently to buy a pint of sugar off his scales. I would not trust him to buy a quart of molasses from his cup. What is his purpose. Let me tell you. The manufacturer behind him is pushing him to send you those telegrams and he believes gentlemen, that you will not be open minded enough to see it.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cook.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Cook, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman what is the difference between vegetable fat and animal fat in the human anatomy?

Mr. COOK. It lacks vitamins.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, it lacks what?

Mr. COOK. It lacks vitamins.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, how large a percentage of difference?

Mr. COOK. That is unknown.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, if that is so then what effect does this milk have upon the physical characteristics of life.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, just a minute. I will read you from a statement from Dr. McCullough, taken from a pamphlet by E. B. Hart and H. H. Steinblock of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Wisconsin substantiating Dr. McCullough. This was their experiment: They placed two rats on the same rations. To one they gave five per cent of vegetable fat; to the other they gave one and five tenths per cent of butter fat, or pure milk, so to speak At the start they both weighed twenty-five drams, and in four weeks the one that was fed on vegetable fats weighed forty-two drams while the other weighed two hundred and twenty drams.

Mr. STEEDLE. Let me ask you again, Mr. Cook, is this milk that is put on the market as a cheap product for the poor used simply as a coloring matter for coffee from an aesthetic sense, or is it to a great degree used in the feeding of infants.

Mr. COOK. It has been shown to be used in the feeding of infants. In visiting sixty store in Philadelphia alone we found it in forty and as a great many of the poorer class cannot read or write a great many of them will buy the article that has the lowest price regardless of its value.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, it has been my experience as a physician of twenty years' practice, that it seems to be fortunate for the poor that only about eight per cent or ten cent of the children are bottled fed. Now by that I mean that by some natural act of providence the poor class of people does not deem it to be so obnoxious to nurse their children as does the higher type of the American woman. Now if that is true and if this milk product is only used by the poor from an asthetic sense in coloring their coffee, it would not produce much destruction upon their physical life, and I cannot see why this body should legislate and take away from them that privilege to get something cheap when it does not really mean anything. It looks to my mind to be something of the same type that was passed here in 1919 in the oleomargarine act. It has been proven beyond a doubt that oleomargarine is just as healthy, just as nutritious as ordinary butter. Of course it lacks the coloring matter and ofttimes people become a little repulsed because it looks a little white, but I dare say from knowledge of its manufacture that I believe that oleomargarine is a whole lot more aseptic than pure butter. So I in my own mind cannot reason why the milk industry in Pennsylvania should be so ready to safeguard the poor people from something that they can get a little cheaper when it is only for the purpose of coloring their coffee and not to be used as a food in that relation. I cannot see the necessity for this act of the Legislature notwithstanding the fact it may come from the department—I heard nothing about it coming from the Department of Health, possibly it may have, I was not at the meeting and do not know—but I cannot see just why we are called upon to pass this drastic legislation. If in any way this product of so many names is of such a chemical composition that it is destructive to health, then I certainly would be the first one to vote against the bill.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Pittsburgh was speaking concerning oleomargarine. That is entirely out of the question, as this bill does not apply to oleomargarine. When we buy oleomargarine we know what we are getting, but when we buy this "Hebe" it is like a lot of the stuff that you get from the M. D.'s I guarantee you there is not a member in the House when he buys this "Hebe" who knows what he is getting in this product. I was surprised when the gentleman from Allegheny made the statement that if only the poor used these goods why legislate to care for them? It seems to me, gentlemen, that we ought to be broad-minded enough to take care of the poor in this State just as well as the rich.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I hope the gentleman from York does not for a moment believe that I think that this bill bears any relation to oleomargarine. I merely drew upon that as an illustration to use against the passage of this bill, and when it comes to the question of the safeguarding of the lives of the poor, I am just as willing and as ready to help them as he is. I was not arguing the point from the standpoint of not assisting the poor in any way, but was merely asking you to consider the relationship which one question bears to another. When he talks about the content of this product, that is an easy matter to remedy, because it is necessary to put on the box what is contained in the product. I cannot see what the object is in passing this act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Berntheizel,

A majority of all the Senators, having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 318, entitled:

An Act to establish the pay mileage and contingent expenses of Presidential electors

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I notice that the Chairman of the Committee on Election is not here this morning and I would like to ask some questions concerning this bill. The reading of it is not very clear to me. If there is a member of the committee here who will take the responsibility of answering for the chairman I would like to interrogate that Senator.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would suggest to the Senator to let the bill go over in its order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not wish to delay the bill if there is some other member of the committee here that can answer the questions.

The PRESIDENT. If the Senator from Allegheny will ask his questions there may be a member of the committee present who will answer them.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to know whether this bill provides for the payment to the Presidential electors of $15 per day, 10 cents per mile and $500 in addition thereto.

The PRESIDENT. The sum of $500 is for the contingent expenses of the entire commission. What does the word "both" mean?

Mr. BARR. That is the point at issue, what does "both" mean?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, further replying to the interrogation of the Senator from Allegheny, I have absolute information that this year the entire cost of the electoral college of the State of Pennsylvania was less than $1,000, which was provided for in the general deficiency bill, and this is to prevent the necessity in the future of having to await a session of the Legislature to pay those expenses.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I withdraw my objection.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 23, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who are the way, the truth and the life, so illuminate by the sun of righteousness that no man need walk in fear or danger or be in doubt at the parting of the way. Grant unto us that we may so see the power of truth as the first-born of Heaven's own eternal self, that we shall never resort to force or power with the hope that we can accomplish anything against it. Not the greatest of navies nor the hordes that come in marshaled hosts will be able to defeat it; for it has Heaven's own alliance to rely on. And grant, we beseech Thee, that truth may bring forth such life that it may flower in righteousness and in dignity and in power; and unto the way, the truth and the light be the glory and the praise forevermore. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on the motion of Mr. McCurdy, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1047, (Senate Bill No. 194), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand nine hundred five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred thirty-seven) entitled "An act to provide for the repair and maintenance or improvement by the proper county city or borough of turnpikes heretofore or hereafter appropriated or condemned or any part thereof for public use free of tolls" as amended providing for the maintenance and repair of abandoned turnpikes and turnpikes of dissolved companies by the several townships cities and boroughs

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 818, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to damages for injuries producing death" as amended by extending the provisions thereof to brothers and sisters

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to damages for injuries producing death" which as amended by the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and seventy-eight) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An act relating to damages for injuries producing death' approved the twenty-sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five so as to provide that certain surviving relatives of the deceased may recover damages whether such surviving relatives be citizens of this Commonwealth or not" reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the persons entitled to recover damages for any injuries causing death shall be the husband widow children or parents of the deceased and no other relatives and that such husband widow children or parents of the deceased shall be entitled to recover whether he she or they be citizens or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or citizens or residents of any other state or place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States or of any foreign country or subjects of any foreign potentate and the sum recovered shall go to them in the proportion they would take his or her personal estate in case of intestacy and that without liability to creditors under the laws of this Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the persons entitled to recover damages for any injuries causing death shall be the husband widow children parents or brothers and sisters of the deceased and no other relatives and that such husband widow children parents or brothers and sisters of the deceased shall be entitled to recover whether he she or they be citizens or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or citizens or residents of any other state or place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States or of any foreign country or subject of any foreign potentate and the sum recovered shall go to them in the proportion they would take his or her personal estate in case of intestacy and that without liability to creditors under the laws of this Commonwealth

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was before us last week I confess the question presented was somewhat new to me, and after having thought the matter over for a week I still feel that the bill itself is not a move in the right direction, as it provides in the case of "damages for injuries producing death by extending the provisions thereof to brothers and sisters." It provides that there shall be recovery to brothers and sisters. Personally I would be perfectly willing for recovery to brother and sister, as the words, "and other dependent next of kin" are stricken out in the amended form. However, this bill goes a step father than the recovery to brothers and sisters as it covers brothers and sisters in foreign parts. I understand that it may mean that there may possibly be a suit for damages in which full recovery may be claimed for recovery to any such kin residing in a foreign land. It seems to me this extension of that doctrine of negligence is far beyond anything contemplated thus far. For this reason it seems to me that the bill is a mistake.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill as originally introduced contained the words "extending the provisions thereof to brothers and sisters and other dependent next of kin." There was objection raised to the provisions of the bill and the objections met with my approval when they were brought to my attention and the words "and other dependent next of kin" were stricken from the bill. There was a suggestion made that the word "dependent" be inserted before the word brothers and sisters, but I thought that under the last decision of our courts the word "dependent" was unnecessary. The Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled that a beneficiary can only recover through pecuniary loss and that nothing could be recovered otherwise. In every case dependency must be proven before any recovery can be had. The gentleman from Philadelphia raised the further objection that this would provide for brothers and sisters who were not living here, and kin would be entitled to recover who were living in foreign lands. This provision in the bill is simply to conform with the amendment of the act passed in 1911 which provides that in case of a brother or father there should be recovery although they lived in a foreign country. I make a distinction as to brothers and sisters. In 1915 the Workmen's Compensation Act was passed, and it is the contention as to the adequacy of it, that compensation is possible under that. There is a general situation, the main qualification is the provision that the one who is a beneficiary and who may recover is the proper one. The Compensation Act permits brothers and sisters to be compensated. I make a distinction between that and the general subject. If they are entitled to recover, in case of death, provided for in the Workmen's Compensation Act, why should not that provision be extended and be in effect where death is the result from injury. I cannot see any distinction. If any one of you have a sister or a brother whom you are helping to support, and if you are supporting that brother and sister, and are disabled or killed through negligence, they suffer a pecuniary loss. There have been a great many cases of that sort. Would you like to feel that if your life were to be taken away through negligence that the brother or sister should not be entitled to recover that pecuniary loss which they suffer in your death through negligence. However, they must show the pecuniary loss along with the proper relations existing. When you consider this act in connection with the Compensation Act and that brothers and sisters are entitled to recover in those cases I do not think that any valid argument can be presented against this bill.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, in a sense this bill is an old friend. It has been before this House on a number of occasions—or before earlier Houses, and in each instance it was defeated. Every reason that existed for opposing this measure at that time exists to-day. I feel that it behooves every member of this House to give this bill very careful consideration before we amend the general law and open this door to include brothers and sisters. You will notice that the earlier intent was not only to include brothers and sisters but it was to include brothers and sisters and other relatives. Now the portions of the bill relating to the other relatives are amended out, but if we pass the law as it is now amended, including brothers and sisters to be benefitted under the act, it will only be a little while until another step and another step and still another step will be taken. It behooves every man who drives an automobile on the street; it behooves everybody to be very careful and to use their best judgment as to whether or not to open the door to permit brothers and sisters to be benefited in case of death, under this act, and I think the bill should be defeated.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, replying to the gentleman from Lancaster, it is true that this bill is an old friend in Pennsylvania legislation. However, I think the persistency with which the bill was introduced at repeated sessions should finally be rewarded. I desire to correct a statement made by the gentleman from Lancaster that this bill has been repeatedly defeated in this House. The bill has passed the House before, but it has never succeeded in passing the Senate. Frequently when a member goes before the General Assembly with a measure; when objection is raised to it he is willing to compromise. Legislative enactment, in a great many cases, is the result of compromise. I felt that I had affected a compromise on this bill and I am very much surprised that those whom I felt had offered to compromise and when I amended the bill leaving out the words, "and other dependent next of kin," that these gentlemen would now oppose this bill. That was done and the provision was extended to brothers and sisters. But this bill does not go a step beyond the Workmen's Compensation Act and it is an entirely proper measure as it applies to brother and sister. What valid objection can be raised to increase the class of beneficiaries. The law is perfectly clear on that—the pecuniary loss must be shown. It would not be possible for a man to go in, or any person to go into court and file a claim for damages unless they could show pecuniary loss. That is all they could recover under the provisions of this act. I again submit to the gentlemen that the act in extending the provisions of the law as it is now is an entirely proper one and one that should receive your approval.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, the foundation of this legislation dates back to 1855 when the Legislature passed a law limiting the beneficiaries in cases of death to parents and to the surviving children if any. Now it stood that way for a period of fifty six years from 1855 to 1911, when it was extended to the relatives not only in the United States, but in Europe and wherever they could be found. The bill as brought in was to extend the provisions of this act to brothers and sisters leaving out the word "dependent." I called upon the chairman of the Judiciary General Commitete and asked him if there would be any objection to inserting before the words "brothers or sisters" the word "dependent" brothers or sisters. If the construction of the Supreme Court upon this act of assembly is such as is stated by the gentleman from Allegheny, why should he object to putting in the word "dependent." Last summer a year ago I attended a meeting of the bar association of Pennsylvania at Bedford Springs, in which this matter was brought up for debate and consideration. It was there stated that there is a regular bureau of men in New York and in other cities who keep a record whenever a death by violence occurs, and immediately their runners are sent to the surviving relatives and friends of the decedent, and a contract is entered into to take that case upon a contingent fee, and the United States and all Europe is hunted up to get persons to go into the courts that these ambulance chasing lawyers may recover a fee on a contingent basis which usually runs from sixty to seventy per cent. of the amount recovered. Gentlemen I have had some experience in this line. I know how dangerous it is to employers of labor everywhere, because there are men lying back anxious to try the experiment of a law suit in which they have nothing to lose and everything to win. It is so easy to manufacture evidence; it is so easy to find the convenient witness who will swear anything that is necessary to get from the sympathies of the jury a verdict for the plaintiff. I cannot see why the honorable gentleman from Allegheny would at least hesitate to concede that the word dependent should be entered there before "brothers and sisters." Under the Act of Assembly as it is now the Supreme Court may say the very absence of that word from this statute when it was left in the preceding statute is significent of the legislative mind. And then we are confronted with the position that we must thrust upon the surviving brothers and sisters whether they were dependent or not the benefit which they otherwise could not get under any contingency. Is it right, is it equitable that a privilege, that a benefit should be extended and granted to any individual to be derived from the death of a relative upon whom he was not dependent and upon whose life he had no insurable interest. Gentlemen it is against good morals, it is against equity, it is against public policy, and it effects every employer of labor, and as the gentleman from Lancaster says it effects every man who owns an automobile and drives through the city and towns of our Commonwealth. Are they to be dragged into a court simply so that these ambulance chasing lawyers may wash their dirty linen before a court and jury to get something for nothing which seems to be the great aim of so many people to-day, to live by their wits, to do anything to get money except to labor. Let us stick to the old law as it is.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Somerset seems to have fallen into the common practice in the House that when no valid argument can be found to present against a law they take up the time of the House in abuse. I can pass over the gentleman's insults and slurs as an ambulance chasing lawyer and I will place my reputation as a member of the bar of the State and of Allegheny County against that of the gentleman and that of the interests he represents in making such remarks on the floor of this House. Mr. Speaker in every case where death results from violence, if there are ambulance chasing lawyers in the State they must have a high powered automobile to get there in advance of the claim agent representing the company that the genteman from Somerset represents. The gentleman did come to me and request the insertion of the word "dependent." It is unnecessary, absolutely unnecessary and if the gentleman will look at the act of 1855 and will look at the act of 1911, amending the act of 1855, he will find that nowhere does the word "dependent" appear.

The act at the present time reads, "That the persons entitled to recover for damages or for any injury causing death shall be the husband, widow, children or parents of the deceased, and no other relative" and that such husband, widow, children or parents shall be entitled to recover whether he, she or they be citizens or residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or citizens or residents of any other state or place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, or of any foreign country. This amendment adds the words "brothers and sisters," and the words "no other relatives" are retained. It is true that this would affect automobile drivers. Why should they escape liability for an injury which they have unlawfully inflicted? Why, the State of Pennsylvania to-day is full of cripples, permanently crippled people, orphans and widows where lives have been taken and accidents caused by reckless automobile drivers, and because the man is worth nothing no recovery can be had. Now the gentleman from Somerset has said that this would affect every employer of labor. Do not the gentlemen of this House know that in every case, through the death of an employee, a brother or sister could not come in under this act? These cases are all provided for by the Workmen's Compensation Law, so that the employers of labor would be affected in no way by the passage of this act. Employers of labor are governed as to brothers and sisters, in case of death, under the Workmen's Compensation Act. This does not change the existing law as to that at all. It might affect some common carriers, and it should affect common carriers; it should affect anybody who takes the life of another through any unlawful violence or negligence. Mr. Speaker, let me say again in conclusion, that in extending the provisions of the act of 1855, as amended by the act of 1911, you are taking a step in the right direction.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Alegheny, Mr. Dithrich, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DITHRICH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, let me ask the gentleman from Allegheny what his objection is to inserting the word "dependent" before the words "brothers and sisters." I gather from your explanation that it will make no difference in the purport of your act, and if it satisfies the conscience of other people, why not put it in?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, one objection I had to amending the bill at the present time is because of the persistent regularity with which this bill has come back from the printer with typographical errors. No sooner have I corrected one error than the bill would come back again with another error. I would send it down corrected, and it would come back again. This bill has been on the calendar possibly four or five times. I have come to feel that possibly all of the time of the session would be taken up in offering amendments to this bill. As I said before, it is not necessary to have the word "dependent" inserted in the bill. If the gentleman can show me any necessity for inserting the word "dependent," or if it were in the existing law, then I would have no objection to inserting it. As I said before, since the settled law of the State of Pennsylvania is that only dependents can recover, it is absolutely unnecessary to insert this word, and I do not care to run the chance of sending the bill back to the printer at this time. I would like to have the bill acted on now.

Mr. EDMONDS. Is not the word "dependent" in the Workmen's Compensation Act as applying to brothers and sisters?

Mr. DITHRICH. The word "dependent" appears in the compensation act in all cases, and the reason for that is in certain cases dependency does not need to be shown. In other cases it must be shown, and for that reason the word "dependent" was added.

Mr. EDMONDS. Would it not bring this law, then, in harmony with the compensation act if it applied to dependent brothers and sisters?

Mr. DITHRICH. This lay is entirely different from the Workmen's Compensation Act, and because of the law that existed at that time, the Workmen's Compensation Act was enacted into law. Under that act the fellow-servant rule and the contributory negligence rule were eliminated. A man was entitled to recover under that act whether or not the injury which he received, or which resulted in his death, was the result of an act of a fellow-servant or of any negligence to which he contributed. Under this law, if the plintiff, or the party sueing—if it be proven that the decedent has contributed in any way to the injury which resulted in death, then there can be no recovery. That provision does not apply to the Workmen's Compensation Act. All those defenses are taken away, and the employer must pay. That is one reason why certain provisions are made in the compensation act that should not and do not apply to this law.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, on page two of this bill in line twenty-three are the words, "or other dependent next of kin." There we have it.

Now, I desire to say, in answer to the reply of the gentleman from Allegheny, to my remarks, that I regret exceedingly that he should have interpreted my remarks as a reflection upon or an insult to him. There is no gentleman in the House for whom I have a higher regard than the honorable gentleman from Allegheny, the chairman of the Judiciary General Committee, and the sponsor of this bill. My remarks were not intended to apply to him personally when I said "ambulance chasers." I simply said that there were men of that character, and I know that they are for this bill unanimousy. I have the highest respect for the gentleman from Allegheny, and I hope he will withdraw the insinuation—not only the insinuation but the broad assertion that I was throwing an insult in his face. That is not so. The gentleman stands high in the community from which he comes. He stands high in this legislative body to-day. He has been honored with the chairmanship of one of the most important committees that we have, and I extend to him my congratulations upon his being the next Assistant United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Phiadelphia Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Edmonds, under the Workmen's Compensation Act of to-day, if there are two brothers, the sole members of a family, and one is killed, who pays the doctor's expenses and the hospital expenses and the funeral expenses?

Mr. EDMONDS. I am sorry to say I am not sufficiently familiar with the act to give you an answer. I am perfectly frank in that, because I never had a case under it.

Mr. GOLDER. Where there are two brothers and when one is killed, under the Workmen's Compensation Act, the funeral and other expenses, the hospital bills and the doctor's bills are paid by the employer. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GOLDER. Assume there are two brothers who are the sole members of a family, and neither dependent upon the other, or each self-supporting, and one is killed; who then must pay and who does pay the funeral, hospital, doctor and other expenses?

Mr. EDMONDS. You answer, Mr. Golder, you know more about it than I do.

Mr. GOLDER. I assume, then, that the gentleman agrees with me that the other brother must pay. I do not think he should have to. In the case I gave, where one man is killed, the other brother assumes all the expenses, pays the hospital, doctor and funeral expenses, and under this act he would make no particular profit from his brother's death. Under the existing law, when a man is killed, the other brother pays the actual expenses. I do not think that the theory of this Legislature is that because a man owns an automobile and may drive upon the highway, and, forsooth, kill a man, because there are no dependents, he can go scot-free. I do not think the brother should receive any profit, but I do think that between the brother who survives and the man who kills, the man who kills should pay the actual expenses and not the brother himself.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, because I am anxious to get light on this subject.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Take the case that you cited—suppose there were two brothers, one living in Pennsylvania and one in Russia. Assume both of them to be self-supporting, and no money passed from the one in Pennsylvania to the one in Russia. Suppose that as a result of an unfortunate accident, the one in Pennsylvania should be killed; is it your thought that under this bill the one in Russia would have the right to recover as against the party causing that accident, for whatever damages the jury might fix?

Mr. GOLDER. I am not clear in my mind whether this bill applies to those outside of the State.

Mr. DITHRICH. It does apply to them.

Mr. GOLDER. If there was enough of affection and decency in that brother in Russia, he would assume all expenses in America. But as between the brother in Russia and the man who has done the killing upon the public highways, the brother in Russia should be entitled to recover sufficiently to reimburse himself for the expenses.

Mr. EDMONDS. Exactly, reimburse him for expenses, but I understand this act goes further and allows the entire measure of the recovery to the brother in Russia, and it seems to me to be a new provision in the Pennsylvania law.

Mr. GOLDER. The entire measure of damages would be the actual outlay or expenses. He certainly could not under the existing law recover any more than what were the actual expenses.

Mr. EDMONDS. Would it not be better if the law stated the actual recovery permitted the other brother?

Mr. GOLDER. I do not see how, under the existing law, that it would be possible to recover anything else.

Mr. EDMONDS. What is the object in passing this law, then?

Mr. GOLDER. It is to give the brother or sister the right to recover the actual expenses by reason of a killing or injury caused by some one on the public highway.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, the argument that is made in all these cases by the corporation lawyers to the laymen very often makes an appeal, but if the gentleman from Somerset will tell you what he knows in this respect fairly, he will tell you that when any one of his corporations which he represents is hailed into court, he requires the attorney on the other side to prove three things before he can recover. First, the negligence of the defendant; second, that the deceased, or the man who was killed, was free from any contributory negligence, and third, that the man who is suing was dependent in some degree, no matter how remote it may be, but in some degree at least upon the person who was killed. I have in mind at the present time, in answer to Mr. Edmonds' questions to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, I have in mind one case in which a maiden lady, a sister of the deceased, who had been a dependent from the age of eighteen and she was then thirty-five years of age. Her brother, a bachelor, was killed. They were the only members of that family. She had been dependent by reason of an accident which she had received, and she was a permanent cripple. The brother was killed by an automobile running over him, through the negligence of the automobile owner. If he had been injured by the automobile there would have been no question but that he would have had the right to recover, or in case of death, a wife or a mother or a father would have had that right, because there was no question of fact as to the negligence of the driver of that automobile. Yet because of the fact that that sister, although an invalid and absolutely dependent upon that member and notwithstanding the fact that the brother had been taken out of life and that help to that sister had been removed by the dense and gross negligence of the other party and that that party, who was absolutely and grossly negligent, escaped simply because the law was not on the statute books. Now, if any man can show to the members of this House that there is anything fair in that and if any member, if he be a corporation lawyer or not, can show to this House anything fair in that, I fail to see it. You must remember that the man who can recover under this act, and you will note it is very simple, that they must show that they are dependents before they can recover. I say, Mr. Speaker, if any member here can show you that fact is anything to the contrary, then vote against it. I ask you, gentlemen, in all fairness, that the man who is grossly negligent to be held responsible and be made to carry the burden.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak just a moment on this bill. Suppose you have a sister. That sister, let us suppose, is too proud to be dependent upon you and she works. Don't you think it would be a big relief to her to know that if you got hurt that there would be compensation to her for your injuries under this act. Don't you think it would be a big relief to her. Gentlemen, you know that if they should get sick and have spent their last nickel that they could not get a nickel under the present law through the death of the brother who was killed, if such were the case, would it not be a big relief to that sister to know that if you get sick or killed she would be eligible to compensation. This is no lawyer's bill. I want to say to you that if you let it sift through your conscience you can readily see that this is a mighty good measure to protect every man's sister and every man's brother who is probably working to-day. Probably he is a consumptive; probably he is working under pain through an injury to the head or body, or he may be a cripple, but is too proud to take any money from his brother. Would it not be a big relief to him to know that if his brother got killed he would have something to fall back on. Vote "aye" and you wil not regret it.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Davis, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, yesterday during the discussion upon House Bill No. 480 the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Golder), made certain accusations, which were not clear enough to raise any suspicion one way or the other whether they had bearing upon the four ministerial representatives here in this House. I, therefore, ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to give further explanation as to what he referred to yesterday relative to statements made to members on the floor of this House.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, replying to the gentleman from Indiana I desire to state that I made no accusation against any member of this House in the discussion on House Bill No. 480 yesterday. I did make a statement. I stated that a brother of the cloth had threatened Mr. Asbury, the member from Philadelphia to the effect that unless he voted for the Martin Bill, it would mean the defeat of the Equal Rights bill. I am advised by Mr. Asbury that the name of the person who made such a statment is Rev. W. B. A. Prugh, State Chairman of the Prohibition party of Pennsylvania. I need hardly say that no remarks of mine were intended to cast any reflection upon any of the members of the House. Yesterday I was not able to learn the name of the man who threatened Mr. Asbury, but since that time I have learned his name, and that is the person whose name I have just given.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 453, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one thousand four hundred twelve in article fourteen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General

Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one thousand four hundred twelve in article fourteen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" which as amended by an act approved the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and ninety-two) entitled "An act amending section one thousand four hundred twelve in article fourteen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith' by requiring the free education in the public schools of children who are inmates of institutions for the care or training of orphans or other children" reads as follows

"Section 1412. The board of school directors of any school district in this Commonwealth in which there is located any orphan asylum home for the friendless children's home or other institution for the care or training of orphans or other children shall permit any children who are inmates of such homes but not legal residents in such district to attend the public schools in said district either with or without charge for tuition text-books or school supplies as the directors of the district in which such institution is located may determine Provided That when the education of such inmates of such institutions is charged for the cost thereof shall not exceed the cost of tuition text-books and school supplies of other children of similar grade in such district And provided further That such costs chall be paid to the district in which such institution is located by the district of which the respective pupils are legal residents" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1412 The board of school directors of any school district in this Commonwealth in which there is located any orphan asylum home for the friendless children's home or other institution for the care or training of orphans or other children shall permit any children who are inmates of such homes but not legal residents in such district to attend the public schools in said district either with or without charge for tuition text-books or school supplies as the directors of the district in which such institution is located may determine Provided That when the education of such inmates of such institution is charged for the cost thereof shall not exceed the cost of tuition text-books and school supplies of other children of similar grade in such district except in cases where for the accommodation of such children it shall be necessary to provide a separate school in which cases the cost of tuition shall be taken to include also the cost of the fuel and the amount paid for the rental of any school building And provided further That such cost shall be paid to the district in which such institution is located immediately by the county in which such institution is situated Provided further That said county shall in all cases have full recourse to recover the cost so incurred from the parents guardians or persons properly charged therewith under the laws of this Commonwealth or from the school district in which such pupils are legal residents.

NAYS—5.

Chaplin, Craig, J. R., Hayes, Marcus, J. C., Conner,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 93, FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. FINNEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

In the House of Representatives,
March 23, 1921.

Resolved. (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 93, entitled "An act making it unlawful to turn in or sound false alarms of fire, and to meddle or interfere with or break or destroy any fire alarm, telegraph system," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the House present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 821, as follows:

An Act to amend sections three four and eleven of an act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred sixty-six) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities and all county or other public employes if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section three of an act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred sixty-six) entitled "An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities and all county or other public employes if any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions" which as amended by section one of of an act approved the fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-nine) entitled "An act to amend sections three four five six and eleven of an act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen entitled 'An act requiring cities of the first class to establish a pension fund for employes of said cities and all county or other public employes If any paid by appropriation of the city councils thereof and out of the treasury of said cities and regulating the administration and the payment of such pensions' " reads as follows

"Section 3 Every person now or hereafter employed by the said cities or paid out of the city treasury thereof as herein provided if any of the age of sixty years and upwards who shall have been so employed for a period of twenty years or more shall upon application to the board of pensions herein created be retired from service and shall during the remainder of his or her life receive a pension or compensation fixed by this act subject to such qualifications as are herein contained Provided That if any person or persons had been employed by the said cities for a period covering eighteen years or more prior to the passage of this act and shall thereafter he reemployed it shall be necessary that the period of their reemployment shall extend over a period of two years or more before such person or persons shall be entitled to receive the pension fixed by this act" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 Every person now or hereafter employed by the said cities or paid out of the city treasury thereof as herein above provided if any of the age of fifty-five years and upwards who shall have been so employed for a period of twenty years or more shall upon application to the board of pensions herein created be retired from service and shall during the remainder of his or her life receive a pension or compensation fixed by this act subject to such qualifications as are herein contained Provided That if any person or persons had been employed by the said cities for a period covering eighteen years or more prior to the passage of this act and shall thereafter he reemployed it shall be necessary that the period of their reemployment shall extend over a period of two years or more before such person or persons shall be entitled to receive the pension fixed by this act

Section 2 That section four of said act which as amended by section two of said amending act reads as follows

"Section 4 During the lifetime of the said person he or she shall be entitled to receive a pension from the fund set aside for the purpose fifty per centum of the amount which would constitute the average rate of pay at which he or she was employed during the last five years of his or her employment by the said city or other public employment as aforesaid. Said pension shall be paid in monthly payments Provided That if any pension be granted to a person who has not been a contributor to the pension fund as herein provided during a period of twenty years such person shall be required to pay unto the board of pensions monthly an amount equal to two per centum of his or her pension until such time as his or her contribution shall have extended during a period of twenty years Should any person so employed after twenty years of service be dismissed voluntarily retire or be in any manner deprived of his position or employment before attaining the age of sixty years upon continuing a monthly payment to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service said person shall be entitled to a pension above mentioned notwithstanding he or she has not attained the age of sixty years at the time of his or her separation from the public service but said pension shall not commence until he or she has attained the age of sixty years Should any employe however become totally and permanently disabled after twenty years of service and before attaining the age of sixty years he or she shall be entitled to the said pension Proof of total and permanent disability shall consist of the sworn statement of three practicing physicians designated by the board that the employe is in a permanent condition of health which would totally disable him or her from performing duties of his or her position or office The pension paid to any one employe shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 4 During the lifetime of the said person he or she shall be entitled to receive a pension from the fund set aside for the purpose of fifty per centum of the amount which would constitute the average rate of pay at which he or she was employed during the last five years of his or her employment by the said city or other public employment as aforesaid Said pension shall be paid in monthly payments Provided That if any pension be granted to a person who has not been a contributor to the pension fund as herein provided during a period of twenty years such person shall be required to pay into the board of pensions monthly an amount equal to two per centum of his or her pension until such time as his or her contribution shall have extended during a period of twenty years Should any person so employed after twenty years of service be dismissed voluntarily retire or be in any manner deprived of his position or employment before attaining the age of fifty-five years upon continuing a monthly payment to the fund equal to the last amount due and paid monthly while in active service said person shall be entitled to a pension above mentioned notwithstanding he or she has not attained the age of fifty-five years at the time of his or her separation from the public service but said pension shall not commence until he or she has attained the age of fifty-five years Should any employe however become totally and permanently disabled while in the service after ten years of service and before attaining the age of fifty-five years he or she shall be entitled to the said pension Proof of total and permanent disability shall consist of the sworn statement of three practicing physicians designated by the board that the employe is in a permanent condition of health which would totally disable him or her from performing the duties of his or her position or office The pension paid to any one employe shall not exceed one hundred dollars per month

Section 3 That section eleven of the said act which as amended by section five of the said amending act reads as follows

"Section 11 The time of service herein specified namely twenty years shall be computed from the time of the first or original employment said employment to consist of service either to such cities or to the county or other public service paid out of the city treasury or both as aforesaid and need not be continuous Provided That in no case shall a period of more than eighteen years be credited to the service record of any person or persons who shall be employed after the passage of this act and who shall have been employed by the said cities prior to the passage of this act No pensions shall be paid under the provisions of this act however until after January first one thousand nine hundred and seventeen" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 11 The time of service herein specified namely twenty years or in case of permanent disability ten years shall be computed from the time of the first or original employment said employment to consist of service either to such cities or to the county or other public service paid out of the city treasury or both as aforesaid and need not be continuous Provided That in no case shall a period of more than eighteen years be credited to the service record of any person or persons who shall be employed after the passage of this act and who shall have been employed by the said cities prior to the passage of this act No pensions shall be paid under the provisions of this act however until after January first one thousand nine hundred and seventeen

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor what changes this bill makes in the existing law,

Mr. DUNN. It changes the age from sixty years to fifty-five years, and there is also another amendment that permanent disability must be acquired in the service.

Mr. EDMONDS. Thank you very much. I dislike very much to disagree with anything that comes from my friend from Philadelphia, because in my short service in the House I have enjoyed so much his courtesy and helpfulness, but when he produces a bill which makes it compulsory upon the city of Philadelphia to pay a pension to men fifty-five years of age, I must voice my disapproval. It seems to me that this bill is carrying the pension principle too far. I am in favor of the pension principle, but it seems to me that the age of fifty-five is entirely too low. It is below the army limit, it is below the limit of the Pennsylvania Railroad, it is below the service of this House. I can mention on the floor of this House a number of gentlemen who are above the age of fifty-five years at this time who are taking a very active part here. I say that a man at the age of fifty-five who is retired, and who has been in the service twenty years and who is to receive this pension seems to be placing a heavy and serious charge on the city.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DUNN. With pleasure.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to a question the gentleman from Philadelphia said that there was a disability clause here that before he could receive a pension even at fifty-five he must be permanently disabled.

Mr. DUNN. While in the service.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Is that not a separate clause entirely? Are you not mistaken about that?

Mr. DUNN. I will read the law to you if that is necessary. You are reading it, are you not?

Mr. ALEXANDER. In the first clause, or clause four, it does not say anything about permanent disability.

Mr. DUNN. Not in regard to retiring at the age of fifty-five.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes. Now the first clause provides that after twenty years service, even at fifty-five he shall receive a pension.

Mr. DUNN. Yes sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. But the disability clause refers to a ten years service only, if he has obtained the age of fifty-five years and become disabled after ten years service, is not that correct?

Mr. DUNN. That is right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. So that if he arrives at the age of fifty-five and has been twenty years in the service whether disabled or not, he receives a pension. Is not that right?

Mr. DUNN. That is right.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I thought that was right.

Mr. DUNN. The question of reducing the age ten years refers to total disability. If an employe becomes totally disabled while in the service, we thought it was unfair for him to serve twenty years, and probably he would be totally disabled at ten years, and therefore we reduced the term of twenty years to ten years if he is totally disabled in the service.

Are you through interrogating, Mr. Alexander?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes sir.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, there is nobody who has been more carefully watching this particular bill than I have, because in 1915 I was the sponsor of this bill and placed it on the statute books as a law, and since 1915 up to the present time I have watched it very, very carefully so that nothing might be put into that bill that would be a detriment to the pension act. I hold in my hand from the employees who have contributed to this pension fund a petition the heading of which reads, "We the undersigned employees of the Department of Public Works of the City of Philadelphia, and contributors to the Municipal Employees Pension Fund request that you use your best efforts in behalf of amending section 3, of the Municipal Pension Act reconsidered and amended in striking out the words 'sixty' and inserting the words 'fifty-five'." The City of Philadelphia, gentlemen, since 1915, has not contributed a penny towards this pension fund. The employees have contributed two per cent of their salary and to-day they have over four hundred thousand dollars in their fund. I want to impress on your minds that the City of Philadelphia has not contributed one penny up to the present time towards that fund, it has all been created by a two per cent. contribution paid in by the employees from their salaries. Since 1915 there has been placed on that pension roll about four hundred employees both of the county and of the city. Since that time one-fourth of those have died—one fourth or one hundred of the four hundred have died and ceased to be a part of that pension fund. I understand that some people in the city of Philadelphia say that it would prove a detriment to the pension fund if we reduce the age from sixty to fifty-five. They claim that it will be possible that two or three hundred who have reached the age of fifty-five will retire and go on the pension fund. Understand the law is not compulsory on the part of the employee when he reaches this age to retire, but there is another question. Every change of administration down there, there are probably one to two hundred requested to resign. Employees get notices from the heads of the departments of the municipal government saying that they are of the age to go on pension and they want them to resign. There is not one of those employees to-day who is eligible to participate in that pension fund who would go on it if the request was not made to resign, because no man is going to give up a job paying twelve hundred to two thousand a year to go on it for half pay, but when he is thrown out of work at the age of fifty-five by the changes of the various administrative heads and he has twenty years service in, I think it is no more than right that he has an opportunity then to grasp something when he has been forced out of his position and to take advantage of the opportunity offered him in the pension act after twenty years service and become a pensioner. How can it prove a detriment to that fund when in four years they have accumulated over four hundred thousand dollars? I want to call attention to the fact that the city or the county of Allegheny has a pension act on the books signed by the Governor, which is a law to-day and passed at the same time that this act was passed in 1915 that says in part, the employees of counties having a population less than one million five hundred thousand, and who have had twenty years service or over at the age of fifty-five they can retire; and furthermore in that they have a provision that they shall get one per cent. of the taxes from that county to go into that pension fund from the time the act went into effect. The City of Philadelphia has not contributed a penny to this fund and it belongs to the employees, and upon petition of three thousand of those employees from various departments, the Bureau of Water, eleven hundred employees; the Municipal Court, all the employees; the Electrical Bureau, all the employees; the Department of Safety, City Hall guards, all the employees; the Bureau of City Property, all the employees; the Department of the City Solicitor's Office, all the employees; the County Commissioner's office, the Bureau of Survey, the commissioners of Fairmount Park, the Recorder of Deeds, all of these employees have petitioned me to offer this amendment, and in their behalf I ask the approval of the members of this House.

Mr. EDMUNDS. Mr. Speaker, there are two objections to this bill. The first one is, the age limit of fifty-five years. It seems to me that if we place a limit of fifty-five years in any one line of public occupation, that you will at once have petitions of all sorts and kinds asking for a similar age limit everywhere. I submit emphatically that we should not put the limit of fifty-five years as the proper age for a public pension. A man ought to work longer than that. I have no objection whatever to a disability pension, for a man who becomes disabled in the course of his work, but to say that the work of the city hall employees in Philadelphia is any more dangerous than in the army or in the work on the Pennsylvania Railroad seems to me to be absolutely absurd, and therefore, I am opposed to this bill. In the second place, the Philadelphia representatives have received resolutions from the city council, asking us to oppose this measure on the ground of the change it makes in the law and the financial liability incurred. I am not sure, Mr. Dunn, but is there not some liability on the part of the city treasurer of Philadelphia if the fund of two per cent does not amount to enough to pay the pension?

Mr. DUNN. Under the provisions of the act, if a deficiency occurs, the city will have to meet it.

Mr. EDMONDS. Then, if a deficiency should exist it must be met by the city treasurer and the liability comes back to the citizens.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds.

The SPEAKER. Will gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows the age at which the firemen in the city of Philadelphia retire?

Mr. EDMONDS. I think the firemen and the policemen do retire at a lower age, but I submit again that the case are not parallel. They are engaged in a hazardous service, they are the soldiers of peace and they take their lives in their hands continually and are entitled to special consideration other than that which applies to the civilian employees.

Mr. TRAINER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state to the House, in answer to the question of Mr. Edmonds, that recently the chief of the Philadelphia fire department retired. When he retired he was receiving a salary of forty-five hundred dollars a year, and he is now getting twenty-five hundred dollars a year pension, and is young enough to hold down a five thousand dollar position with a commercial house. That is the trouble. Men leave the service at fifty-five years of age and go into civil life, and get a new position, and between that salary and the pension, they are getting more than they made before while in the service and they are still lying back on the men in the pension fund.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Trainer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Trainer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TRAINER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows at what age a fireman retires.

Mr. TRAINER. A fireman retires in twenty years.

Mr. DUNN. But at what age does he retire?

Mr. TRAINER. I cannot say, but the pension fund of the firemen is a pension fund of their own and not a fund such as the gentleman makes reference to here.

Mr. DUNN. I would like to ask whether or not it is not the fact that the city appropriates probably one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the firemen's pension fund?

Mr. TRAINER. It is assisted by city council.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether he knows at what age the policemen of the city retire?

Mr. TRAINER. I believe, sixty years. I am not positive of that, but I believe it is sixty years.

Mr. DUNN. I wish to correct the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. The policeman retires at the age of fifty-five, after twenty years of service, and the firemen at the age of fifty, after twenty years service. That is the law.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, I am not opposed to pensions. I believe that it is a good thing that we pension the old employes who have served us faithfully for a certain length of time, but it does seem to me that we are getting away from the primary purpose of a pension. It should be confined to a man physically disabled from carrying on his occupation. As you have heard before, this is a bill to make the municipal pension apply to men of the age of fifty-five, when he is in the full vigor of his manhood and able to do a full day's work, and not at the age of sixty years, as it is now. I am here to say that we ought to have a law applying only to a man who is physically disabled, but I believe the time will come when we will have such a law on the statute books, because you know how many occupations there are to-day where they are not pensioned, and who are very much displeased with the pensions given municipal, state and other employees. It does seem to me that we ought to make a stop somewhere in the age limit of these municipal employees. They are not generally engaged in any hazardous undertakings, they are mostly clerks and men of that kind, who at the age of fifty-five years are in the full vigor of their manhood and are able to perform a full day's work.

What will be the result of this if we change the law? Every man who is eligible to a pension, having served twenty years, will immediately retire upon half pay, notwithstanding the statement of Mr. Dunn to the contrary, and he wil engage in some other business, just as in the instance given by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Trainer, where the man retired at the age of forty-five years, after serving twenty years as a fireman. My principal objection to this bill is this: notwithstanding the number of employees who have signified their consent to this act in the petitions which Mr. Dunn has, there are a great many other employes in Philadelphia, who would be eligible to go on the pension list at once if we put fifty-five years as the limit instead of sixty. Some of them have spoken to me personally, and say that they are unalterably opposed to this because of the fact that it would cause such a large drain upon their pension fund. It may be true that the city of Philadelphia has not been called upon to contribute anything towards this pension fund but I have been informed that if this fifty-five year age limit were established that three hundred thousand dollars of the four hundred thousand dollars of the fund would be immediately required, and it is easy to see that it would not be long before the Councils would be called upon to make an appropriation from their taxes imposed upon the city of Philadelphia and we who come from that city know that our people are complaining enough now of the taxes that are settled upon them. It seems to me that we ought to pay some attention to the resolution of Council, for they ought to know more about the real situation than the employees themselves who naturally want to have this age changed. As the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Edmonds) states, every member from Philadelphia has received a copy of the resolution adopted by Council, and at a meeting on the seventeenth of March last, they voiced a unanimous disapproval of this change from sixty to fifty-five years. I hope, therefore, Mr. Speaker, that the members of this House will not vote in favor of this measure.

MOTION TO PLACE ON POSTPONED CALENDAR.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed and that it be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed it with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 598 (Senate Bill No. 66), entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred seventy), entitled "An Act to amend, revise and consolidate the law providing for the burial of certain honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines at the expense of the counties in which they shall die or have a legal residence at the time of their death to provide a system for effecting the burial of such soldiers, sailors and marines; to provide headstones and markers for the graves of such soldiers, sailors and marines and to authorize the county commissioners of the several counties to purchase plots of ground for the burial of such soldiers, sailors and marines," as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 6, line 20, by inserting after the word "within" the word "or outside."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 890 (Senate Bill No. 272), entitled:

An act to amend section three hundred and five of an act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and thirty-six) entitled "An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder by imposing penalties for failure of an employer to insure his liability to pay compensation and providing the method by which an employer may be exempted from the necessity of such insurance

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 626, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred ninety-five) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of assistant district attorneys in the several counties having over ninety thousand and less than seven hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and fixing their salaries"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred ninety-five) entitled "An act to provide for the appointment of assistant district attorneys in the several counties having ninety thousand and less than seven hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and fixing their salaries" which reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all counties of this Commonwealth having a population of more than ninety thousand and less than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants the district attorneys shall have authority to appoint with the consent of the president judge of the court of quarter sessions of the county two assistant district attorneys who shall receive such compensation not to exceed two thousand dollars per annum each as shall be fixed by the president judge of the court of quarter sessions of the county In all counties having a population of one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants the district attorney shall have authority to appoint a first assistant district attorney at a salary of three thousand dollars per annum and a second district attorney at a salary of two thousand dollars per annum In all counties having a population of two hundred thousand and more but less than seven hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants the district attorney shall have authority to appoint a first assistant district attorney at an annual salary of three thousand six hundred dollars a second assistant district attorney at an annual salary of three thousand dollars a third assistant district attorney at an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars and with the approval of the president judge of the court of quarter sessions may appoint a fourth assistant district attorney at an annual salary not to exceed two thousand dollars" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all counties of this Commonwealth having a population of more than ninety thousand and less than one hundred fifty thousand inhabitants the district attorneys shall have authority to appoint with the consent of the president judge of the court of quarter sessions of the county two assistant district attorneys who shall receive such compensation not to exceed two thousand dollars per annum each as shall be fixed by the president judge of the court of quarter sessions of the county In all counties having a population of one hundred and fifty thousand and more but less than two hundred thousand inhabitants the district attorney shall have authority to appoint a first assistant district attorney at a salary of three thousand dollars per annum and a second district attorney at a salary of two thousand dollars per annum In all counties having a population of two hundred thousand and more but less than seven hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants the district attorney shall have authority to appoint a first assistant district attorney at an annual salary of three thousand six hundred dollars a second assistant district attorney at an annual salary of three thousand dollars a third assistant district attorney at an annual salary of twenty-five hundred dollars and with the approval of the president judge of the court of quarter sessions may appoint a fourth assistant district attorney at an annual salary not to exceed two thousand dollars

The salaries herein provided for assistant district attorneys shall be paid by the respective counties out of the county treasury in the manner provided by law for the payment of salaries of county officers

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for the payment of the assistant district attorneys in the county whether the fees of that office justify it or not; that if the fees are not sufficient to pay they shall be taken out of the county treasury. I think it should not be passed. It is unfair to the counties they should take from their general funds money to pay for an office which does not have business enough to pay in fees for that office.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified as follows:

An Act to amend chapter three of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That chapter three of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled "An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto" is hereby amended by adding thereto the following article to be known as article five

CHAPTER III

CREATION OF TOWNSHIPS

ARTICLE V

CONSOLIDATION OF TOWNSHIPS

Section 66 Whenever two or more townships of the same class situate in the same county shall be adjacent to each other they may be consolidated into one township Such consolidation shall be made under the following conditions The township supervisors or the township commissioners of the respective townships may of their own initiative or shall within sixty days after each is requested in writing by at least twenty-five qualified electors of the respective townships enter into a joint agreement for the consolidation of such townships into one township The joint agreement shall set forth the name of the new township and the territorial boundaries thereof It may also set forth such terms as had been agreed upon for the disposition of the assets of each of the townships and for the liquidation of the indebtedness of the townships either jointly separately or in certain defined proportions and the adjusting and paying of the same by separate rates of taxation on all property subject to taxation within the boundaries of such townships respectively

Section 67 The question of the consolidation of such townships shall be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of each of the townships at a special election to be held on a day to be designated in the joint agreement Any such election may be held on the day of any general or municipal election The election shall be held by the regular election officers and in accordance with the provisions of the laws regulating elections Notice of such election shall be given by proclamation in the manner prescribed for proclamations for elections of township officers The question to be submitted to the electors shall be submitted in the form and in the manner provided by the general election laws for the submission of similar questions

If the majority of the votes cast at such election in each of the townships is in favor of the ratification of the agreement that fact shall be certified to the supervisors or the commissioners of the respective townships by the return boards and the secretary of the respective townships shall cause the same to be entered upon the minutes and upon the agreement

Section 68 The agreement or a certified copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the proper county Upon the filing thereof the several townships shall be consolidated into one township under the manner set forth in the agreement All costs and expenses incurred in such consolidation except such as may be incurred at any general or municipal election shall be paid by the consolidated township and in case the electors shall decide against any such consolidation such costs and expenses shall be paid in equal shares by the townships proposed to be consolidated

Section 69 After such consolidation the rights privileges and franchises of each of the townships and all the property real personal and mixed and all debts due on whatever account and other things in action belonging to each of such townships shall be vested in the new township The title to real estate vested in either of such townships shall not revert or be in any way impaired by reason of such consolidation All rights of creditors and liens shall be preserved and all debts and liabilities of either of such townships shall attach to such new township and be in force against it In the case of any such consolidation the supervisors or the township commissioners of the township having the largest population shall constitute the supervisors or commissioners of the new township and such officers shall remain in office until the expiration of the respective terms for which they were elected As vacancies occur in any of said offices by the expiration of their terms such vacancies shall be filled by the election by the electors of the consolidated township of supervisors or commissioners in the same manner as is now provided for the election of these officers in accordance with the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1921 — 124th of the General Assembly

Vol. 6. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1921. No. 34.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, March 24, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou who lettest the rain fall upon the just and the unjust, and dost give unto us at the recurrent times all that mother nature allows us to take from her fertile bosom, grant, we beseech Thee, though unworthy of the least of Thy favors, that Thou wilt continue Thy goodness toward us. And further, we beseech Thee, bless those who must work in chilly winds and summer heat in order that they may prepare the fields and reap the harvests and garner the grain; and that they indeed may be encouraged and helped in every possible way. And make us mindful, we who live in the city, that we are dependent upon them in their faithfulness and in their fidelity; and oh, make all men, especially those who have power, conscious of the fact that Thou Thyself hast said, "Cursed be he who withholdeth the grain," and may these vultures, both of the farms and of the city dweller, be soon brought to task, that they and their ilk may pass away forever and that all mankind may not be made to pay tribute to them who are friends of none. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on the motion of Mr. Ehrhardt, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is rather disappointed that there are not more members present this morning. The Chair wishes to inform the members of the House, and through the press those who are absent, that we are now on the eve of adjournment; that the calendar is beginning to be piled high with bills, and that it will be impossible to properly transact the business of this House if we do not hold full Thursday sessions. The Chair up to the present time has endeavored as much as possible to relieve the members and to avoid night sessions with the expectation that he would have a full attendance here on Thursdays, but that has not been the case today. The Chair fears that in the event the same situation prevails next Thursday, it will be necessary to hold Friday sessions or to poll the House if a quorum is not here.

The House and Senate passed a joint resolution to adjourn April 28th, which is practically two months earlier than normal, and unless there is a full attendance and unless the Chair has the full co-operation of the membership of the House in the passage of necessary legislation, a great deal of meritorious legislation must necessarily suffer. The Chair does not desire to continually have to call the attention of the members of the House to the importance at the sessions, and trusts that it will not be necessary to do so in the future.

The Chair proposes to go through the third reading calendar as per schedule, and those members who are not present when their legislation is being considered will have to have their bills postponed and take their chances. In addition the Chair will ask all members to vote on the legislation as it comes before the House.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 798, entitled:

Section 501 The Commission on Mental Health is hereby authorized and empowered in its discretion and for any reason which to it may seem sufficient to transfer or cause to be transferred any patient from any mental hospital to which such patient has been admitted under any of the provisions of this act to any other like hospital within this Commonwealth but no such transfer shall be made to or from a private hospital except upon the joint application of the superintendent or manager thereof and of the legal or natural guardian or other person liable for the support of the patient and no patient under sentence by any court or committed by any court after having been charged with any crime and acquitted on the ground of insanity may be transferred without an order of such court authorizing such transfer Provided That any voluntary patient may be transferred only if such patient or the person who made the application for such patient's admission has consented in writing to such transfer

Whenever any patient not a convict who has been committed by order of a court is transferred the order of commitment shall be held to apply to the hospital to which such patient is transferred as though said hospital had been the one to which the said order of commitment had originally been made

Section 502 Whenever any patient shall be transferred under the provisions of this article certified copies of the application of the certificate of physicians or report of commission and of the order of court or such of them as there may be and the order of the Commission on Mental Health authorizing the transfer shall accompany the patient to the hospital to which he is transferred together with a copy of all clinical records or a full abstract thereof containing all essential particulars including results of mental and physical examinations and laboratory tests relating to such patient

Section 503 Whenever the superintendent of any mental hospital shall find that any patient therein needs care in a mental hospital for patients of a different kind such superintendent shall report the facts relative to such patient to the Commission on Mental Health Thereupon the said commission may order that application be made for the admission of such patient to any proper mental hospital by any of the procedures prescribed by law for admission of patients to such hospital

Section 504 The Board of Trustees of any mental hospital and the superintendent thereof when given general or special authority therefor by such Board of Trustees or the person in charge if there be no Board of Trustees shall have the power and authority to discharge any patient from such hospital if in their or his opinion no harm will arise from such action but no insane criminal under sentence and no person charged with any crime and acquitted on the ground of insanity shall be discharged from such hospital without an order of the court in which he was sentenced or acquitted authorizing such discharge No patient who is known to be homicidal or otherwise dangerous to be at large shall be discharged without examination by and the written consent of the Commission on Mental Health nor without a sufficient guarantee by the person liable for said patient's support and care that the safety of the public or any individual shall be safe-guarded No patient whose parent guardian or friend liable for his support shall oppose his discharge shall be discharged without notification to such parent guardian or friend and opportunity given him to state his reasons for wishing the said patient's further detention and no mentally defective person or inebriate who has been committed by an order of court except in the case of a person discharged by lapse of time from leave of absence or escape and except in case such inebriate has been under hospital care for one year shall be discharged without the recommendation of the chief medical officer in charge and an order from the court

Section 505 The Commission on Mental Health shall have power and authority in its discretion to order and compel the discharge from any mental hospital of any mental patient except an insane criminal under sentence or a person charged with any crime or misdemeanor and acquitted on the ground of insanity but before issuing such order the commission shall give due notice to the trustees or superintendent of the hospital wherein such patient is under care and to the person at whose instance the said patient is detained and shall give reasonable opportunity to such trustees or superintendent and person to justify a further detention of the said patient

Section 506 Any proper court shall have the power and authority to order and compel the discharge of any mental patient committed by such court to any mental hospital if upon hearing it shall be made to appear that such discharge is for the best interests of the patient and not incompatible with the public welfare and safety In making any such order if it is not in accordance with the expressed opinion of the physician in charge of the hospital the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision which reasons shall be part of said order and the said order and reasons and the opinion of the physicians in charge of the said hospital shall be entered in the clinical record of the patient

Section 507 The superintendent of any mental hospital may in his discretion allow a leave of absence for such period not exceeding twelve months and upon such conditions as he may prescribe but not inconsistent with the provisons for discharge of patients as provided in section five hundred four to any patient whose condition is such as to warrant such action

Such leave of absence may be terminated by such superintendent who may if necessary authorize the apprehension and return of the patient to the hospital by any sheriff constable or police officer who shall thereupon cause such apprehension and return In such case the expenses necessarily incurred by such sheriff or other officer in such return of a patient shall be paid by the person in whose charge the patient was allowed to leave if he is financially able to pay Otherwise such expenses shall be paid by the person or poor authorities liable for the maintenance of such patient in such hospital

Section 508 Any mental patient who escapes from any mental hospital may be apprehended and returned thereto by any sheriff or constable or police officer or by any officer or employe of such hospital at the expense of such hospital

Section 509 The Governor may upon demand deliver to the executive of any other state or territory any person who has escaped from any mental hospital to which he has been admitted under the laws of such state or territory and who may be dangerous to the safety of the public or may upon application appoint an agent to demand of the executive authority of any other state or territory any such person who has escaped from such a hospital in this Commonwealth Such demand or application shall be accompanied by an attested copy of the commitment and sworn evidence of the superintendent of the hospital stating that the person demanded has escaped from such hospital within six months next preceding the date of the application or demand and by such further evidence as the Governor may require

Section 510 If the Governor is satisfied that the demand conforms to law and ought to be complied with he shall issue his warrant under the seal of the Commonwealth to an officer authorized to serve warrants in criminal cases directing him at the expense of the agent who makes the demand at the time designated in the warrant to take and transport such person to the boundary line of this Commonwealth and there deliver him to such agent and for this purpose such officer may require aid as in criminal cases Provided That any person who is arrested upon such warrant shall not be delivered to such agent of a state or territory until he has been notified of the demand for his surrender and has had an opportunity to apply for a writ of habeas corpus if he claims such right of the officer who makes the arrest If such writ is applied for notice thereof and of the time and place of hearing shall be given to the Attorney General or District Attorney for the district in which the arrest is made

Any officer who delivers to such person in his custody upon such warrant to such agent for extradition without having complied with the provisions of this section shall forfeit not more than one thousand dollars Pending the determination of the court upon the application for such writ the person shall be detained in custody in a suitable mental hospital

Section 511 If the application for the arrest of a patient escaped from any mental hospital in this Commonwealth to another state or territory is granted and an agent is appointed for the purpose of returning such patient to such mental hospital the account of such agent shall be paid by the hospital from which the patient escaped but the Governor may direct the whole or any part of such account to be paid by the Commonwealth

Section 512 Any mental patient except such as has been charged with any crime and acquitted on the ground of insanity or arraigned or convicted who has been absent with or without leave for a period of twelve months continuously from the hospital in which he was under care shall be deemed to be discharged from the said hospital and cannot be re-admitted except as provided by law in Article IV of this act

Section 513 If upon investigation the Commission on Mental Health or any of its agents shall find that any patient supported wholly or in part at the expense of the Commonwealth is not a legal resident of this Commonwealth but has a legal residence in some other state or country it may by a proper order addressed to the trustees or the superintendent of the hospital to which such patient has been admitted cause him to be returned to that state or country in which he has a legal residence or where he belongs

Any patient returned to another state or country under the provisions of this section shall be suitably clothed and unless he is fully competent to travel alone he shall be attended by a person of his own sex who shall exercise due care over him until he has reached the destination agreed upon by the proper authorities of this State and the state or country to which he is returned If competent to travel alone and unable to pay the costs of travel he shall be furnished with funds sufficient for sustenance and travel to the destination agreed upon

The actual necessary expense of returning such patient shall be paid from the State Treasury by warrant drawn by the Auditor General on the State Treasurer on an account settled by the Auditor General

Section 514 The Commission on Mental Health is hereby authorized and empowered to enter into agreements with the authorities of other states which shall adopt legislation consistent with this act for the arbitration of disputed questions between such states and this Commonwealth respecting the residence of mental patients and for the return of such persons to their proper residence

Section 604 Whenever any person is maintained as a patient in any mental hospital wholly or in part at the expense of the Commonwealth the Attorney General through any agents authorized by him may investigate the financial ability of such patient or of the person liable for the support of such patient to defray the expenses in whole or in part of his care and maintenance in such hospital

Section 605 The court of common pleas of the county in which any mental patient resided prior to his admission to any mental patient

A certified copy of the order of the court or judge and copies of the application and of the certificate shall accompany the patient and be given to the superintendent in charge of the hospital in which the patient is ordered to be placed The said application certificate and order shall be kept on file in a special docket in the court

The said order shall not authorize the admission of the patient unless he shall be admitted to the hospital within two weeks from the date thereof' The superintendent of said hospital shall receive the said patient and may detain him therein until said patient shall have recovered or shall be removed according to law

Section 404 Whenever an application shall be made to a court of common pleas or judge thereof for an order for the admission of any person thought to be mentally ill to a hospital for mental diseases the court or judge thereof may in its or his discretion immediately appoint a commission to inquire into the report upon the facts in the case The said commission shall be composed of three persons two of whom shall be qualified physicians and the other a lawyer They shall in their inquisition hear such evidence as may be offered or as they may require relating to the mental condition of the person whose admission to a hospital for mental diseases is sought as well as the statements of such person or his counsel and shall make a report in writing to the court or judge thereof setting forth whether or not they find that the person in question is in fact mentally ill and a proper subject for admission to a hospital for mental disease and setting forth the facts on which their conclusion is based

If the commission finds that the person in question is mentally ill and is a proper subject for admission to a hospital for mental diseases and the court or judge thereof shall approve the report of the commission said court or judge shall thereupon order the person to be admitted to the hospital named in the application The court or judge may or may not in its or his discretion require the presence in court of the person thought to be mentally ill and the procedures may be held in any place in the discretion of the court or judge

If the person thought to be mentally ill shall refuse to submit himself to an examination by the aforesaid commission the court or judge thereof may issue a warrant for the bringing of said person before said commission for examination

Section 405 The superintendent of any hospital for mental diseases may receive in the hospital of which he has charge for temporary care as a patient for a period not to exceed ten days any person who is or is thought to be suffering from mental illness on the written application to said superintendent by the legal guardian or relative or friend of such person which application shall be accompanied by a certificate of at least one licensed physician that immediate temporary care in a hospital for mental diseases is necessary for such person by reason of mental illness

Said application and certificate shall be given to the superintendent or other officer of the hospital at the time of the admission of the patient

If after the admission of such patient the superintendent shall be of opinion that the patient does not require such temporary care the superintendent shall discharge said patient or shall notify the said guardian relative or friend on whose application the patient was admitted to forthwith remove the patient from the hospital whereupon it shall be the duty of said guardian relative or friend to remove him and said guardian relative or friend shall be liable to the hospital for the expenses incurred including those for care maintenance and removal

If the said superintendent shall be of the opinion that the patient requires further care the said guardian relative or friend shall before the expiration of said period of ten days cause the patient to be duly committed according to law unless said patient shall have signed a request to remain as a voluntary patient or shall have been removed from said hospital

When such patient is so further committed the costs of such commitment shall be considered to include the expenses incident to his admission for temporary care

Section 406 The superintendent of any hospital for mental diseases may receive and detain as a patient for a period not exceeding ten days any person whose case is certified to be one of violent or dangerous mental illness or of other emergency by two qualified physicians in a certificate similar to the certificate required in section four hundred and two of this act except as to being sworn or affirmed to Upon request of one of the guardian or committee of said patient a sheriff or constable or police officer shall cause the delivery of said patient to the superintendent of said hospital

The person requesting such admission shall within ten days after the date of admission apply to a judge of the court of common pleas of the county in which the patient is or resides or was apprehended for the commitment of said patient as mentally ill in accordance with the provisions of section four hundred and three of this act The certificate aforesaid may be use as the certificate of mental illness required in said section If within the said ten days no commitment be made or if the patient does not sign a request to remain in the hospital as a voluntary patient or if the patient be not removed the applicant aforesaid shall be liable to the hospital for the expenses which may be recovered by the hospital by suit in assumpsit

Section 407 The guardian committee or any relative or friend of a person thought to be mentally ill may make application to the court of common pleas of the county wherein such person resides or is or to any judge thereof for an order for the commitment of such person to a hospital for mental diseases for observation diagnosis and treatment Such application shall be accompanied by the sworn certificate of two qualified physicians setting forth upon a form prescribed by the Commission on Mental Health that such person is in such a condition as to require observation in a hospital for mental diseases and giving the information called for by said form Thereupon or in his own discretion without such application the court or judge if satisfied that the condition of such person is such as to make his commitment desirable for his best interests shall commit him for such period and under such limitations as the court or judge may direct to the institution indicated in the application or to such other like institution as the court or judge may designate

The superintendent or other person in charge of the institution to which the said person is committed shall before the expiration of the period of commitment of the patient make written report of said patient's mental condition to the court or judge making the commitment Thereupon the court or judge if satisfied that the patient is not mentally ill shall order his discharge and that the cost of his transportation commitment care and treatment be paid by the person so committed by the applicant for his commitment or by the poor authorities of the county or poor district in which such person is resident as the court or judge shall deem just and proper otherwise the court or judge shall make such order for the further disposition of the patient as may to him seem proper

Section 408 When any person detained in any prison whether awaiting trial or undergoing sentence shall in the opinion of the superintendent jail physician warden or other chief executive officer of the institution or other responsible person be insane or in such condition as to make it necessary that he be cared for in a hospital for mental diseases the said superintendent jail physician warden or other chief responsible officer of the institution or other person shall immediately make application upon a form prescribed by the Commission on Mental Health to a law judge of the court having jurisdiction of the charge against said person or under whose order he is detained for commitment of said person to a proper hospital for mental diseases The said judge shall forthwith order an inquiry by two qualified physicians or by a commission as provided in section four hundred and four of this act who shall immediately examine the said person and make written report of their findings to the said judge If in their opinion the person so detained is insane the physicians shall so state in a certificate conforming to the requirements of section four hundred and two or the commission in a report conforming to the requirements of section four hundred and four of this act They shall also report whether in their opinion such person is of criminal tendency The said judge may in his discretion summon other witnesses and secure further evidence If he is then satisfied that the person thought or alleged to be insane is in fact insane he shall order the removal of such person to a hospital for mental diseases If the prisoner is a convict serving sentence or if he is of criminal tendency he shall be removed to a State hospital for insane criminals In any other case the judge shall commit him to some other hospital for mental diseases

If the person found to be insane and removed to a hospital is awaiting indictment or trial or has been arraigned or is being tried proceedings against him shall be stayed until his recovery Upon his recovery he shall be returned to the prison from which he was removed for the disposition of the charges against him upon proper order of the court If he is a convict serving sentence the time during which he is in the hospital shall be computed as part of the term for which he was sentenced

The expense of examination including the fees of physicians or commissioners and all costs incident to such removal and of maintenance in the hospital previous to the expiration of sentence shall be paid by the county liable for the maintenance of the patient in the prison from which he was removed without recourse against any poor district.

If the sentence of a person committed to a hospital for mental diseases under the provisions of this section shall expire before his recovery he may be transferred by the authority of the Commission on Mental Health to any other hospital for care until his recovery when he shall be discharged as in the case of any non-criminal patient If the person found to be insane and removed to a hospital is a convict and recovers before the expiration of his sentence or is found after observation for a sufficient time not to be insane the superintendent or chief officer of the hospital to which said person has been committed shall properly certify such fact to the court which has committed him and he shall be returned upon order of the said court to the prison from which he was removed The expense of removal shall be paid by the county liable for his maintenance in the prison from which he was removed without recourse against any poor district

When on the production or appearance of any person charged with criminal offense or on the production or appearance before the court of such a person under any other circumstances it shall appear to the court that such person is insane or in such condition as to make it necessary that he be observed or cared for in a hospital for mental diseases proceedings for the commitment of such person to such a hospital shall be had such as are provided for in section four hundred seven or section four hundred three of this act upon application of some person to be designated by the court

When any person charged with any crime or misdemeanor whatever shall be acquitted on the ground of insanity or of having been insane at the time the offense was committed the jury shall set out this fact in their verdict and the court or judge before whom such person is tried may thereupon order such person to be committed to a hospital for mental diseases in the manner provided in sections four hundred three four hundred four or four hundred seven of this act

Section 409 The superintendent of any State or licensed school for mental defectives may receive any mentally defective person resident of this State under twenty years of age and incapable of being properly educated and trained in the public schools whose condition of mental defect and whose need of and fitness for care in a school for mental defectives shall have been certified to by a qualified physician and whose admission shall be applied for by a parent guardian or relative of such person or by any other responsible person having custody of such mentally defective person or being liable for his support

The said application shall be made on form prescribed by the Commission on Mental Health and shall state the name sex age and residence of said mentally defective person and such other facts as may be required by the Commission on Mental Health If the facts or any of them are known to the applicant it shall be so stated in the application.

If the said application is for the admission of a person to a State school it shall be endorsed by the poor authorities of the county in which the said person resides if there be such authorities in said county otherwise by the directors or overseers of the poor district in which said person resides

But before any person shall be admitted to any school for mental defects under the provisions of this section the consent of the managers or superintendent thereof to such admission shall have been obtained.

The poor authorities of a county or the overseers of the poor district herein endorsing an application for the admission of a person to said school shall state whether or not such person has an estate of sufficient value or a parent or parents of sufficient financial ability to defray the expenses in whole or in part of supporting such person in said school and if there be such mental hospital maintained in whole or in part by the Commonwealth shall have power upon the application of the Attorney General to make an order conformable to the provisions of this article for the payment of maintenance to the Commonwealth upon the trustee committee guardian or other person who has charge of the estate of such patient or against the husband father wife mother or child of any patient so maintained in such amounts respectively as the court in its discretion may deem proper taking into consideration the ability of the patient or the person liable for his support to pay for such maintenance and the court may also upon like application direct any trustees committee guardian or other person having charge of any such estate to file with the Attorney General the statement required by the second section of the act approved the first day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws page six hundred and sixty-one) entitled "An act relating to the maintenance of insane feeble-minded and other persons confined in the various institutions of the Commonwealth fixing liability for their support providing for the collection of the moneys due the Commonwealth therefor and for proceedings relating thereto"

Section 606 Whenever any patient shall be transferred under the provisions of section five hundred and one of this act the cost of such transfer or removal shall be paid by the patient or by the person liable for his support if able financially to pay and if the transfer was made at the request of such person otherwise said costs shall be paid out of the general appropriation for the Commission on Mental Health After such transfer the municipality poor district or person liable for his support and maintenance to the institution to which said patient has been admitted shall be liable to the institution to which such transfer has been made for support and maintenance

Section 607 The expenses of the care and maintenance including clothing of insane prisoners shall be paid in the same manner as the costs of commitment of such prisoner as provided in section six hundred and two of this act Provided That if the term of sentence of any prisoner shall expire while he is still a patient in any hospital such expenses shall thereupon become chargeable as provided in section six hundred and three of this act

Section 608 The expenses incident to the discharge or removal of any mental patient from any mental hospital including necessary clothing and traveling expenses or of his funeral expenses in case of his death shall be chargeable in the same manner as the cost of maintenance of such patient as provided in section six hundred and three of this act

If such patient is in a State hospital and there is no estate of such patient or person liable for his support who is able to pay therefor and the patient is ordered by the Commission on Mental Health to be discharged the authorities of such hospital shall pay the travelling expenses of such patient to his home the amount of which payment shall be refunded and paid to such hospital from the appropriations for the indigent insane or mentally ill then current

If such patient is a convict or other prisoner such expenses shall be paid by the county in which the crime was committed or from which the prisoner was committed as the case may be in the same manner as the costs of maintenance as provided in section six hundred and seven of this act

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. DAVID I. MILLER, Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from page 15 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 135, file folio 1883, for the purpose of amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. David I. Miller,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 135, entitled:

An Act to amend an act, approved the seventeenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws, page 1010), entitled "An act to safeguard human life and health throughout the Commonwealth by providing for the reporting, quarantining, and control of diseases declared communicable by this act and by regulation of the Department of Health; providing for the prevention of infection therefrom; and prescribing penalties," by providing for quarantine in places designated for the isolation, control and treatment of communicable diseases by providing for the quarantine of communicable diseases upon an opinion of the attending physician, health authorities, or any medical representative of the State Department of Health, that a reasonable suspicion of such disease exists, and granting certain powers to the advisory board.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. D. I. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, page 5, line 6, by inserting after "quarantine" the following:

"Provided, That in the case of a person or persons suspected of suffering from disease or diseases of the generative organs no quarantine shall be established or caused to be established by health officers or representatives of the State Department of Health until it is reasonably certain from personal examination or laboratory tests of from evidence which has been furnished to the State Health Department or to any board, bureau or department of health that the person or persons are suffering from diseases of the generative organs but this proviso shall not prevent the quarantine of persons known to be prostitutes and reasonably suspected of suffering from diseases of the generative organs and of being a menace to the health of a community."

Amend section 1, page 5, line 6, by inserting after "Provided" the word "further."

Amend section 2, page 6, line 9, by striking out "diseases" and inserting in lieu thereof "diseased."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objections? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL.

Mr. WHITAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent for an extension of five days, on the third reading postponed calendar, of House Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 167.

An Act to amend sections two, twenty-eight and thirty-two of an act approved the twentieth day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and twenty-one), entitled "An act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of, this Commonwealth at the time of his death, and of property within this Commonwealth of a decedent who was a nonresident of the Commonwealth at the time of his death; and making it unlawful for any corporation of this Commonwealth, or national banking association located therein, to transfer the stock of such corporation or banking association, standing in the name of any such decedent, until the tax on the transfer thereof has been paid; and providing penalties; and citing certain acts for repeal."

HOUSE BILL NO. 23 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 23, file folio 2407, on page 6 of to-day's calendar, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of Chiropractic and to create a Board of Chiropractic Examiners for the examination and licensing of Chiropractors defining the powers and duties of said Board and providing a penalty for violations of this act

Which passed second reading this morning, be made a special order of business on third reading and final passage for Tuesday, March 29, 1921, at 4:30 o'clock P. M.

Mr. J. J. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1061, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of an act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 102), entitled "An act providing for a cash deposit in lieu of bail in cases of arrest, and prescribing the fees of the sheriff in case of forfeiture," by prescribing the fees of the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the case, whenever the liability of the bail is terminated otherwise than by a forfeiture of the same.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, you will notice that the bill which has just been read provides for a commission to the Clerk of Quarter Sessions throughout the Commonwealth of two per cent. on cash bail. Two years ago you who were members of this House at that time, it may be remembered, that the Cash Bail Act was passed and the reasons given at that time were that very often the poor man who was charged with some crime in a strange county —take for illustration, a man from Philadelphia—is arrested out in Delaware County, and he cannot get real estate bail. He is therefore obliged under the rules of the court to put up a cash bail which requires him to go back to his home county and get some friend of his to put cash bail there, under the act of 1919, with the Clerk of Quarter Sessions or else go into a trust company and put up a thousand dollars bail or put it up with some indemnity company, a thousand dollars bail and pay the premium. The act two years ago was passed for the purpose of saving that man or his friends from paying that fee; that law was for the purpose of saving that. Now comes along this bill, that is, a fee, does not put it with a trust company, but with the Clerk of Quarter Sessions, and he is no better off than before the act that required him to go to the trust company to get bail as high as $15,000 and often higher than that, as I have one in Delaware County as present of $30,000, and if this bill is passed it is saving nothing. It seems to me that the clerks of quarter sessions throughout the Commonwealth, with fees paid for filing and everything else, make sufficient without having this fee attached to it. If it had not been for the act of 1919, passed for the purpose of saving the man that expense, he would not have it at any rate; in fact, he would have less; he would not have the fee for filing the bond. I think in the face of the act of 1919 this bill should be defeated.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. CURRAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. GEORGE T. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 61, entitled:

An Act making appropriation to the Pennsylvania State Oral School for the Deaf at Scranton Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McBride, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the sponsor of this bill if it contains a clause whereby the act, if passed, will be self-sustaining?

Mr. McBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, it will be more than self-sustaining. I predict that the act will bring a revenue to the State of over $350,000, and only calls for an appropriation of $18,000.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I understand that is in the act. Can you point to anything in the act that provides for that?

Mr. McBRIDE. Five per cent. of all the license fees turned into the State alone will give $30,000 a year.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 677, entited:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, if the gentlemen of the House will look on page 2131 of this bill they will see that it dictates to the private school teacher and what he or she shall teach. I propose to vote against this bill and my reason for doing so I desire to give at this time, so that it may be known that I do not think the House, or the legislature or anyone else has any right to interfere with the private citizen as long as they are within the law what he or she shall teach or how he or she shall teach it. That is the reason I have for voting against this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION DESIGNATING AS THE NAME OF THE STATE HIGHWAY FROM HARRISBURG TO LANCASTER AS THE "THADDEUS STEPHENS HIGHWAY," AND THAT FROM HARRISBURG TO CHAMBERSBURG AS THE "STANTON HIGHWAY."

Mr. PHIPPS, offered resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, The portions of State highway from Harrisburg to Lancaster and from Harrisburg to Chambersburg form spurs to, and a connecting link between two portions of, the Lincoln Highway, bringing it through the capital city of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, Such portions of State highway have at present no historic names; and

Whereas, It is fitting that Pennsylvania honor two of her citizens, Thaddeus Stevens from Lancaster, and Henry M. Stanton, from Pittsburgh, who during the administration of President Lincoln, in whose memory the great Lincoln Highway is named, did more than any others to make this administration a success; therefore be it

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That State highway route, number one hundred and twenty-nine, from Harrisburg to Lancaster, is hereby designated as, and shall hereafter be known by the name and title of the "Thaddeus Stevens Highway";

Resolved further, That State highway routes number thirty-four and thirty-five forming a continuous through route from Harrisburg to Chambersburg is hereby designated as, and shall hereafter be known by the name and title of the "Stanton Highway."
